Showcasing maritime might and valour

There is a massive transformation underway across India, and Telangana sits at the centre of it. As the country accelerates its next wave of economic expansion, the state is emerging as a decisive force, a centre of investment and innovation. With a government focused on clarity, reform and competitiveness, Telangana is reshaping its policies, infrastructure and investment landscape, scaling into the most compelling destination.

A STATE OF GREAT GOVERNANCE

With a clear path to becoming a $3-trillion economy by 2047, the government's approach prioritises ease of doing business, transparent approvals, and a regulatory framework aligned with global expectations. Policy direction now focuses on strengthening industrial land frameworks, improving investor facilitation, and building long-term competitiveness across high-growth sectors.

A MATURE INDUSTRIAL LANDSCAPE

Telangana's industrial ecosystem spans pharma, life sciences, aerospace, defence, IT/ITeS, AI, food processing, and more. A reflection of the confidence global firms place in the state's direction. Pharma City, upcoming AI and Innovation Hubs, and support for GCCs and start-ups, are shaping Telangana into a competitive global investment hub built on talent, infrastructure and long-term planning.

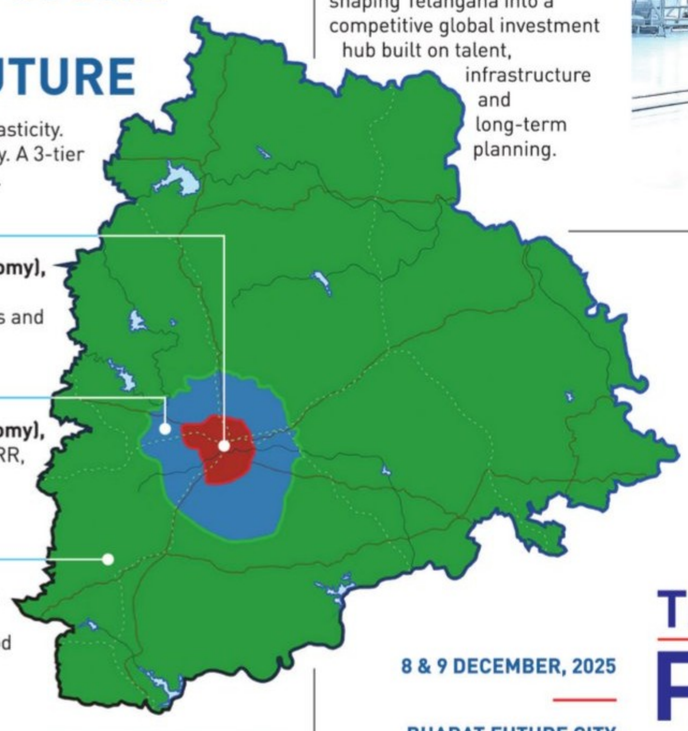
INFRASTRUCTURE DESIGNED FOR THE FUTURE

Hyderabad, the city built for elasticity. Scaling rapidly, and sustainably. A 3-tier growth vision drives it forward.

CURE
(The Core Urban Region Economy), between the city and the ORR, anchored by high-tech services and advanced urban systems

PURE
(The Peri-Urban Region Economy), a belt between the ORR and RRR, for manufacturing, industries and MSMEs

RARE
(Rural Agri Region Economy), beyond the RRR, focused on smart agriculture, forestry, food systems and handlooms



A major driver within this plan is the Future City. A 30,000-acre urban and enterprise hub for global businesses, research institutes, innovation clusters and sustainable living spaces. Combined with rail, road and logistics expansion, the state is building the backbone required for multi-sectoral growth.

TELANGANA RISING GLOBAL SUMMIT

BHARAT FUTURE CITY
HYDERABAD
TELANGANARISING2047.ORG

THE RISE HAS BEGUN. THIS WAS DAY ONE.

"We want to become $1 trillion economy by 2034, and $3 trillion economy by 2047. We comprise around 2.9% of India's population, but contribute around 5% of the national GDP. By 2047, I want to contribute 10% of India's GDP. The vision may look hard but we can do it.

Today, I am more confident than yesterday. Yesterday was a dream, a plan. Today, all of you have joined us. Telangana Rising is unstoppable. Come, join the rise."

A. REVANTH REDDY
CM, TELANGANA

FOR TELANGANA,
THIS IS ONLY THE BEGINNING.

VISION 2047 TAKES THE NEXT LEAP FORWARD.

The government's 8-point plan outlines a transformation grounded in growth and inclusion.

1	3-zone state	Core Urban Region Economy (CURE), Hyderabad, for high-tech hubs; Peri-Urban Region Economy (PURE), between the ORR and RRR, for MSMEs and industry; Rural Agri Region Economy (RARE), beyond the RRR, for smart agriculture, forests and handlooms.
2	$3 trillion economy	5x growth driving 10% of national GDP through innovation, entrepreneurship, manufacturing, tourism, and global competitiveness.
3	Investment magnet	Strong infrastructure, progressive policy, talent and logistics, enabling innovation and high-growth clusters.
4	Youth development and empowerment	Integrate education with skill development, to equip them for tech, industry and advanced manufacturing, for global opportunities, and start-ups.
5	Women-led development and social inclusion	Create 1 crore women millionaires, through life-cycle support of policies and entrepreneurship.
6	Farmer empowerment	Double incomes, promote crop diversification, agri-tech, irrigation, FPOs, market access.
7	Healthcare and human development	Strengthen primary and preventive healthcare, digital health, biobanks, skilled workers, and affordable and elderly care.
8	Net-zero development target	Focus on renewables, green infrastructure, circular economy, nature-based solutions.

KEY ENABLERS

Tech & Innovation • Efficient Financing • Digital Governance

Issued by: I&PR Department, Govt. of Telangana

As India accelerates its growth trajectory, Telangana is aligning its governance, infrastructure and economic vision to match the moment. For investors and enterprises seeking clarity, stability, and opportunity, the state offers a landscape built for the future. A path that's never been more promising, and this is the moment to be a part of it. Join the rise.

Uttarahalli Road to go signal-free, widening work set to resume soon

This will ease traffic on Kengeri, Mylasandra, Kanakapura and Mysuru roads

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Bengaluru Smart Infrastructure Ltd is all set to resume work on widening the Uttarahalli Main Road, popularly known as Dr Vishnuvardhan Road, and make it a signal-free corridor. The stretch falls under the Bengaluru West City Corporation limits of Greater Bengaluru Authority.

Once the asphalting of the 3.4-km stretch is completed, traffic on Kengeri, Mylasandra, Kanakapura Road and Mysuru Road will ease significantly. The stretch will provide seamless travel for motorists heading from Mysuru Road to Kanakapura and vice-versa.

As per officials, the work worth Rs 51 crore involves acquiring 133 properties, including that of an elected representative's. About 15 of the property owners have already come forward for transferable development rights (TDR) and four owners have received the TDR. The remaining owners have said that if only the official notification is issued to acquire the property, they will also come forward. "If all goes well, we will start work by Sankranti and complete the work in six months," said a senior engineer with B-SMILE.

Just one km of the Uttarahalli Main Road was asphalted under the erstwhile BBMP

The engineers were earlier with the project department of the erstwhile Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) and completed the excavation and utility from JSS Academy of Technical Education College side to Adithya Bakery, and the road work was done only up to 1 km. However, the work on the 2.4-km stretch was stopped due to the issue of trees and 133 property owners raising objections.

"The permission from the then BBMP forest department, and later convincing 133 property owners was a big task. After exploring all the options regarding the trees, the work order for their removal will be issued shortly. Meanwhile, B-SMILE, which is executing the project, has paid Rs 14 lakh to Bengaluru Electricity Supply Company (BESCOM) for relocation of its electric poles on the stretch," said the engineer.

As per B-SMILE, the project, part of the 2015 Revised Master Plan (RMP) executed under the chief minister's Navanagorathana scheme, includes developing the 24-metre width road with 1-metre width centre median, 1.5 metre of footpath on both sides and 8.5 metre of carriage on each side. "This work will come under the blacktopping concept and its thickness will not be compromised. By August 15, we plan to inaugurate the stretch," said a senior engineer from B-SMILE. "While the work is going on, traffic will not be stopped on both ways. Now, near Mysuru Road Junction, we are witnessing slow-moving traffic. Once the project is complete, it will be signal-free for motorists heading towards Kanakapura Road from Mysuru Road," the engineer added.

STRAY PROBLEM

BU struggles to keep leash on stray dogs at Jnanabharathi

RASHMI PATIL @Bengaluru

THE state government has ordered all universities and colleges to designate an area on their campuses to feed stray dogs and to stop feeding them near hostels or canteens. The department of Animal Husbandry and Fisheries has also directed the educational institutions to install signage indicating the designated place to feed the canines. The order comes as the Bangalore University is struggling to handle the increasing number of stray dogs on its Jnanabharathi campus.

Bangalore University Vice-Chancellor Jaikar S said, "The University campus is spread over 1,200 acres and there are many stray dogs. Most of these dogs are abandoned by the residents living around the campus. We cannot shut the gates because many public vehicles, including BMTC buses, ply through the campus. As a result, we are unable to keep a tab on the number of dogs and control their birth."

He added, "We have sought the help of civic officials to sterilise the dogs and control their population on the campus. In August, two of our students were bitten by a dog when they went for a morning walk on the campus."

There are around 250 dogs on the Bangalore University campus. When asked about designating a place to feed the dogs, Jaikar said, "It is under process and nothing has been decided yet."

STRAY DOGS AT SCHOOLS

So far, 171 schools under the GBA have completed the count of stray dogs on their campuses. According to the data provided by the GBA Education Department, there are a total of 16 stray dogs in campuses.

ANIMAL ADVOCACY GROUP WRITES TO CM

Citizens for Animal Birth Control co-founders Harini Raghavan and Nandita Subbarao wrote an open letter to CM Siddaramaiah, highlighting the "human" cost of the rash implementation, citing the unprecedented deaths of two due to rabies in the past year. "Kindly release the dogs from ABC centres with immediate effect and please stop non-ABC pickups," the letter read.

Activists decry GBA's 'flawed' implementation of SC order

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

ANIMAL rights activists and concerned citizens have pointed out deep flaws in the implementation of the Supreme Court ruling on removal of stray dogs from public premises. At a press conference on Monday, they flagged the manner in which the Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) has been implementing the SC order, saying it disregards the wellbeing of the dogs as well as the general public.

According to the group, the GBA has been picking up dogs across the city and placing them in "temporary shelters" which runs in clear violation of the SC order and the standard operating procedure (SOP) laid out by the Animal Welfare Board of India (AWBI). So far, according to data shared by the group, 184 dogs have been picked up across the city without proper procedure.

The group also approached Chief Secretary Dr Shalini Rajneesh, who guided them to GBA Special Commissioner Vikas Suralkar. According to Friend for Animal Trust founder Vikash Bafna, Suralkar said temporary shelters would be the way forward, an admission that reveals much of the problem.

"The chronology in which the SC order and AWBI SOP are to be implemented by the GBA is through identification, fencing, nodal officer appointment, vaccination and neutering, identifying designated permanent shelters and only then, catching dogs. But they're catching dogs before even fencing these identified areas. It runs in contempt of the apex court. This is a state-sponsored cruelty in the city," said lawyer Alwyn Sebastian.

Landowners urge HUDCO to withhold funding for BBC project

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

FARMERS and site owners affected by the Bengaluru Business Corridor (BBC) project have urged Housing and Urban Development Corporation Limited (HUDCO) to withhold funding to the project, warning the project faces major legal, financial, and operational risks.

In a letter dated December 8, the PRR Raitha Haagu Nivedanadharara Sangha (PRR farmer and site owners association) said the land acquisition scheme has lapsed, compensation is based on suppressed values, and excess land is being acquired without purpose, risking the project becoming a Non-performing Asset (NPA). The letter also notes that the Supreme Court has directed the Karnataka High Court to hear all PRR-related petitions "as per law and on merits," exposing the project to full judicial scrutiny and increasing the risk of an adverse verdict.

They also warned HUDCO of a major financial shock due to what they describe as "suppressed" land valuation. They allege that the guideline value for PRR lands was artificially lowered by over 60% in 2016, and that the Bangalore Development Authority (BDA) is now offering compensation based on this reduced value.

Landowners, meanwhile, are demanding compensation under the Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency in Land Acquisition Act, 2013, which would peg compensation at market rates. Any such ruling, they argue, would push land costs that are already estimated at over Rs 27,000 crore are far beyond viability for a Public-private partnership (PPP) model.

Operational risks were also highlighted, including BDA's plan to acquire more than 426 acres of what the group calls "unnecessary land," such as outdated toll-plaza areas and land for BMTC and truck terminals for which other land banks already exist.

The group said BDA has not submitted an updated Detailed Project Report (DPR) or an accurate list of land realignments to the High Court, raising concerns over transparency and feasibility.

Urging HUDCO to "exercise utmost caution," the signatories said any funding decision should be suspended until the High Court delivers a clear ruling on the validity of land acquisition, compensation under the LARR Act, and the question of excess land.

KIA overstay rules deferred

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Bangalore International Airport Ltd (BIAL) has deferred implementing its kerbside pickup rules at Kempegowda International Airport (KIA) for a couple of days, owing to the ongoing flight disruptions. The rules were initially supposed to be implemented from December 8.

"We intend to wait for the recent disruptions in flight operations across the country to stabilise, which we expect to happen in a day or two. The revised effective date for implementation will be communicated within the next day or so," said a BIAL spokesperson.

Horoscopes By Holiday

HOLIDAY MATHIS

09th December : Reflections of a Retrograde You're here, at least in part, because you wanted something and took a step in that direction. Maybe the circumstances around you now are not at all what you wanted, or maybe they are close to the dream, but either way, this outcome would not be if not for that dream. The last day of Neptune's retrograde is a chance to reflect on the dreams that have led you to today.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Remember when you thought someone else could help you more than you could help yourself? What an amazingly powerful ally you can be to yourself as you act strictly on your own behalf -- not selfish, just necessary.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20)
A negotiation is due. Asking for what you want might feel awkward, but do it anyway. It's tempting to give in just to keep the peace, yet real harmony comes from meeting halfway.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 21)
Choose bite-sized tasks, or break them down into manageable chunks, because working on something that can be completed within the day will bring you satisfaction, progress, attention, help and good fortune. Prep takes time, too, so factor that in.

CANCER (June 22 - July 22)
You already know what you care about. You don't need to question whether you're doing enough for the cause. Your integrity is intact. You don't need to prove your purpose today. You already embody it.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)
When life gets loud, emotionally charged, chaotic and demanding, the instinct is to escape. But instead of numbing out, checking out or running away, you'll rise to a perspective that lets you see the situation without being consumed by it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)
True belonging empowers. It doesn't erase individuality. Avoid trying to belong to groups controlled by a few powerful people at the expense of many other hardworking underlings. Belonging shouldn't be confused with submission.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 23)
What you fantasize about is more likely to come true than what you don't. The mental exercise is a rehearsal for reality. Each vivid detail draws the future closer. Keep picturing the scene, and you'll also start to see the environment around you echo your imaginings.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 21)
Even though humans are rumored to be social creatures, on days like today, it feels hard to connect. It's the overthinking that's the problem. Make like a barnacle and let nature clump you together for the group good.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)
In choices so small you almost don't notice them, the people you talk to, the pictures you take, the habits you're building -- all are culminating into this new emerging version of you. The change feels good and right.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)
People who interrupt often seem rude or self-important. Interrupting breaks the rhythm of conversation and signals ego. But in a certain moment today an interruption will be wise and necessary to stop misinformation or protect a boundary.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
Anyone can point out what's wrong. It takes creativity and will to see what's good. Luckily, the sunny side calls to you. Today, optimism is the most empowering stance. The world brightens in response to your enthusiasm.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - Mar 20)
People who are very familiar with one another have a shared history which builds context and intent into every communication. Even though newcomers have no such advantage, but the unbiased take of fresh eyes will be invaluable to today's work.

Actor Dileep comes out of Ernakulam District and Principal Sessions Court, along with his lawyers, after being acquitted in the actor assault case | TP SOORAJ

Dileep walks free in 2017 case

P RAMDAS @ Kochi

IN a verdict that stirred up disbelief, agony and pain among a large section of people who had supported the survivor, the Ernakulam District and Principal Sessions Court on Monday acquitted actor Dileep in the 2017 actor abduction and sexual assault case, after concluding that the prosecution failed to establish the conspiracy charge against him. Soon after the acquittal, the Kerala government said it would appeal against the verdict.

Sessions Judge Honey M Varghese held that the evidence did not conclusively link Dileep (P Gopalakrishnan), the eighth accused, to the alleged plan to abduct and assault the survivor.

The prosecution had argued that Dileep had masterminded and financed the crime as an act of personal vengeance. But the court refused to accept it.

Dileep was arrested on July 10, 2017, and later released on bail.

While the conspiracy charge against Dileep collapsed, the court found six accused—N S Sunil alias Pulsar Suni, Martin Antony, Manikandan B, Vijeesh V P, Salim H alias Vadival Salim, and Pradeep—guilty of abducting and sexually assaulting the survivor inside a moving vehicle on the night of February 17, 2017.

These accused persons, the court held, had direct involvement in the crime. All the six were remanded in judicial custody, with sentencing scheduled for December 12.

While the verdict was being pronounced, Dileep held the railing before him and murmured softly. When the court announced his acquittal, the courtroom heaved in response. At that moment, Dileep looked up at the ceiling, visibly emotional, tears welling in his eyes. P7

Gold, Li found in state forests, pressure on to give clearance

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

THE state Mines and Geology Department has prepared a list of 65 locations where the study and exploration for gold and other rare earth minerals is happening. Large quantities of gold and lithium have been found in Koppal and Raichur. But extraction and detailed research has been stalled as the areas fall under protected forests.

"For the first time and in a rare case, we found 12-14 gm of gold per tonne in Amrapur block of Koppal district. Usually during studies and mining, it is around 2-3 gm of gold per tonne. At Hutti Gold Mines, it is around 2-2.5 gm. But the location in Koppal is in the virgin forest patch and we have applied for forest clearance," department sources told TNIE.

It is only the second instance of lithium being found in the country after the detection in Jammu and Kashmir Valley. The metal has been found at Amareshwara in Raichur. "Here, too, the forest clearance has not been obtained. If allowed, Karnataka will be the first state to extract lithium," they added. P7

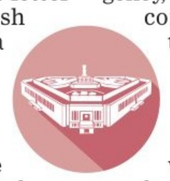
● NEHRU INSULTED VANDE MATARAM: PM ● MANUFACTURED ROW: CONG

Modi: Cong split nat'l song for political gain

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

INITIATING a day-long discussion on 150 years of Vande Mataram in the Lok Sabha on Monday, Prime Minister Narendra Modi accused the Congress of breaking the national song "into pieces" under the guise of social harmony and continuing what he called "the politics of appeasement."

He also targeted former PM Jawaharlal Nehru for agreeing with suggestions that Vande Mataram could 'antagonise' Muslims. Modi cited a letter Nehru wrote to Subhash Chandra Bose after a protest by Mohammad Ali Jinnah in Lucknow in October 1937. Quoting from it, he said Nehru had argued that he had "read the background of the song" and believed it could "spark anger amongst Muslims." Modi said the Congress later convened a session in "Bankim Chandra Chatterjee's Bengal" to review the use of the national song.



"But on October 26, Congress compromised on Vande Mataram," Modi said. "They broke it into pieces under the mask of social harmony... Under pressure of politics of appeasement, Congress agreed to divide Vande Mataram. This is why Congress also bowed to the demand for partition," he said, adding: "History is a testament to the fact that Congress knelt before the Muslim League."

Modi accused the Congress of maintaining the same politics of appeasement even now. The PM recalled that Mahatma Gandhi wrote in 1905 about Vande Mataram becoming so popular that it has emerged as national anthem and wondered that why was injustice meted out to it. "What were those forces that were so powerful to overrule the wishes of Mahatma Gandhi?" he asked.

The PM also cited the Emergency, saying Vande Mataram completed 100 years at a time when "the nation was chained" and "the Constitution was throttled." "Those who lived and died for patriotism were pushed behind bars," he said. "The Emergency was a dark chapter. Now we have the opportunity to restore the greatness of Vande Mataram."

Tracing its origins, the prime minister said the poem was written when the British were "unleashing various forms of oppression" after the 1857 uprising and promoting God Save the Queen. "Through Vande Mataram, Bankim Chandra Chattopadhyay responded with great strength and resolve. The British divided Bengal in 1905, but Vande Mataram stood like a rock and inspired unity," the PM said.

TMC OBJECTS TO BANKIM 'DA', PM SHIFTS TO 'BABU'

The reference to Vande Mataram author Bankim Chandra Chatterjee as 'Bankim da' drew objection from TMC MP Saugata Roy, who suggested the suffix "babu" be used while referring to Chatterjee. Modi accepted the request without hesitation. "I will say Bankim Babu," he said

PM TRYING TO REWRITE PAST, SAYS PRIYANKA

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

IN a counterattack to Prime Minister Modi's Lok Sabha speech, Congress MP Priyanka Gandhi Vadra on Monday charged the BJP with committing a "big sin" by stoking a manufactured row over Vande Mataram, calling the debate a deliberate diversion from real issues and a political ploy ahead of the West Bengal Assembly polls.

Participating in a discussion in the Lok Sabha on 150 years of Vande Mataram, the Wayanad MP listed the "chronology" of the national song and cited correspondence between Jawaharlal Nehru and Subhas Chandra Bose to rebut Modi's charge that the Congress indulged in politics of appeasement over Vande Mataram.

She said Modi had referred to Nehru's October 20 letter to Netaji but "conveniently omitted" Bose's earlier letter dated October 17. "Netaji had written, 'My dear Jawahar... reference to Vande Mataram. We shall have a talk in Kolkata and also discuss the question in the Working Committee, if you bring it up there. I have written to Dr Tagore to discuss this matter with you when you visit Shantiniketan,'" she said. Priyanka further said that while Modi quoted only one line from Nehru's response, the full context shows the Congress's stand had been clear. Nehru had written: "There is no doubt that the present outcry against Vande Mataram is a manufactured one by the Communalists."

SC notice to Siddu on election from Varuna

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Monday issued a notice and sought response from Karnataka Chief Minister Siddaramaiah after hearing an appeal from a state voter, challenging his election from the Varuna Assembly constituency in the 2023 elections. "Issue notice (to Siddaramaiah)," said a two-judge bench of the apex court, headed by Justices Vikram Nath and Sandeep Mehta.

The top court was hearing an appeal from one K Shankara, whose plea was rejected by the Karnataka High Court in April this year. Shankara, a voter from the Varuna constituency, had filed the election petition against the CM, alleging that the five guarantees that were part of the Congress election manifesto amounted to bribery and a corrupt practice under the Representation of the People Act.

Shankara contended that since the manifesto was issued with Siddaramaiah's consent, he too has committed corrupt practices. He requested the court to declare Siddaramaiah's election null and void and debar him from contesting elections for six years.

In April, Karnataka HC judge Justice Sunil Dutt Yadav had rejected Shankara's plea after noting in its order that the election guarantees cannot constitute a corrupt practice.

Tussle within Congress to unseat Horatti

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Belagavi

THE power tussle between Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar has put on hold aspirations of a section of Congress MLCs to remove Legislative Council Chairman Basaravaraj S Horatti and Deputy Chairman MK Pranesh from their positions.

Some MLCs, led by Congress legislator Puttanna, wanted to move a no-confidence motion for the removal of the two, though Siddaramaiah was not in favour of it, given his good equation with Horatti. Both Congress and opposition BJP-JDS, including Horatti, have 37 MLCs in the Council. The deciding vote will be from independent MLC Lakhan Jarkiholi, younger brother of PWD Minister Satish Jarkiholi, a close aide of Siddaramaiah. P4

Aviation minister flags crew rostering fault, vows action

S LALITHA, PARVEZ SULTAN & SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

INDIGO is limping back to normalcy after a turbulent week as it claimed on Monday to have restored flight operations across 138 destinations. Still, disruptions continued with over 250 flights cancelled from Delhi and Bengaluru airports, marking the seventh straight day of operational challenges for the country's largest carrier.

At Delhi, the airline cancelled 134 flights — 75 departures and 59 arrivals. Bengaluru saw 117 flights called off, including 62 departures and 65 arrivals. An IndiGo spokesperson said, "We operated over 1,800 flights on Monday, up from 1,650 on Sunday," highlighting a gradual recovery.

Since December 1, IndiGo has cancelled nearly 500 flights, affecting over 10 lakh passengers nationwide. The cancellations followed regulatory changes in pilots' Flight Duty Time Limitations (FDTL), complicating the airline's scheduling and crew management. The DGCA is reviewing the airline's response to a show-cause notice before deciding on enforcement actions.

Union Aviation Minister K Rammohan Naidu told the Rajya Sabha on Monday, "The IndiGo crisis was due to problems in its crew rostering and planning. We will ensure FDTL is properly implemented." Blaming IndiGo for the disruption, he said action will be taken against those responsible.

The Supreme Court, while refusing urgent intervention, acknowledged the scale of the issue: "Lakhs of people are stranded at the airports. We know that the government of India has taken timely action," said Chief Justice Surya Kant.

The Delhi High Court will hear a PIL by affected passengers on December 10.

We are not taking this situation lightly. We are doing a detailed inquiry and will take very, very strict action... we will set example for all the other airlines

Responding to MLC Talawar Sabanna in the Council, the minister clarified that laboratory tests had conclusively established the cause of death

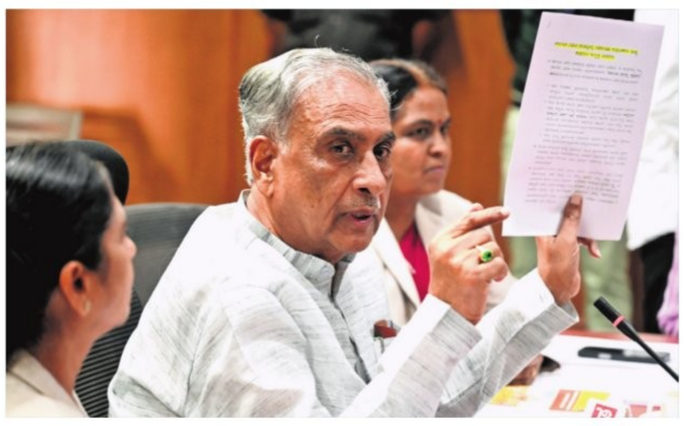
Belagavi winter session to focus on burning issues of North Karnataka

Council will not be adjourned until the discussion is fully completed, says Horatti

SUNIL PATIL @ Belagavi

BOTH Houses of the legislature will discuss issues concerning North Karnataka during the ongoing joint legislature session in Belagavi. One of the main reasons for holding the winter session in Belagavi is to bring the focus on northern parts and discuss development of the region, which lags behind other parts of the state.

Meanwhile, Legislative Council Chairman Basavaraj Horatti on Monday said that the House will dedicate the entire proceedings of every Wednesday and Thursday exclusively to discuss the critical issues of North Karnataka in the ongoing winter session of the legislature. Speaking to reporters in Suvarna Vidhana Soudha in Belagavi on Monday, Horatti said that in the last winter session, 11 MLCs discussed issues pertaining to North Karnataka for about 5 hours and 12 minutes.



Legislative Council Chairman Basavaraj Horatti addresses the media at Suvarna Vidhana Soudha in Belagavi on Monday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

He assured that this session, too, will give special priority and uninterrupted time for addressing long-pending regional concerns. He said time will be allotted after the Question Hour. Major issues such as the implementation of Krishna Upper Bank, Mahadayi, and Kalasa-Banduri irrigation projects, forest land encroachment and rehabilitation issues, problems faced by farmers of North Karnataka and proposed solutions, and employment generation strategies will be discussed. He said that the House will not be adjourned until the discussion is fully completed.

The 157th Council session has allotted 10 working days, and so far, 1,649 questions have been received.

Meanwhile, the Business Advisory Committee has decided to hold discussions on the issues concerning North Karnataka in the Assembly from Tuesday.

CM to hold meet on B'gavi bifurcation

Public Works Minister and Belagavi district in-charge minister Satish Jarkiholi on Monday said that CM Siddaramaiah has agreed to convene a meeting during the ongoing winter session to discuss the contentious issue of bifurcating Belagavi district. Satish said the CM has assured legislators that a detailed discussion on the creation of new districts will be held during the session itself.

BEER SALES DIP SHARPLY, MINISTER BLAMES WEATHER

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

KARNATAKA has recorded a significant decline in beer sales this financial year, with Excise Minister RB Thimmapur reporting a 19.55% negative growth. Addressing the Council on Monday, he revealed that 195.27 lakh cases of beer were sold till the end of September 2025—47.46 lakh cases fewer compared to the corresponding period last year.

Responding to a notice moved by Opposition Chief Whip N Ravikumar and MLC KS Naveen regarding the allocation of excise revenue for the treatment of alcohol-related liver diseases, Thimmapur cited weather conditions as the prime reason for declining beer consumption. "Heavy rains and an extended cold climate have led to a dip in beer sales," he said.

The minister clarified that excise revenue is deposited in the state's Consolidated Fund and is spent only on programmes approved in the budget. "There is no system to divert funds from one department's revenue to a specific purpose," he added, countering the Opposition's demand to earmark at least 20% of excise income for liver disease treatment. Thimmapur said the government is already implementing multiple health schemes to address the medical needs of citizens.

Minister for Minor Irrigation and Science & Technology B Sriramulu Bosaraju said that the state does not encourage alcohol consumption. "We are constantly creating awareness about the harmful effects of alcohol. Regulation must also come through self-discipline among citizens," he said.

'Govt indirectly pushing people to alcoholism'

The State Government of indirectly increasing the number of alcoholics in Karnataka by forcing the officials to meet the excise target, several BJP MLCs demanded that the government set aside at least 20% of the total excise revenue for the treatment of alcoholics in the state. Raising the issue in the Council on Monday, BJP MLC Naveen said cases of liver cirrhosis and issues arising out of alcoholism are on the rise in the state."Because of the increasing alcoholism, women are becoming widows and children are becoming orphans at an early age. We should not let Karnataka become a widow and orphan state," he said.

Congress MLC K Shivakumar demanded that the government stop giving permission for new liquor shops.

Congress MLC Ramesh Babu said that Centre collects GST from Karnataka, and hence it should reserve money from its share to treat alcoholics.

EDUCATION MATTERS

Primary schools will not be shut to set up KPS, reiterates minister

PRAMODKUMAR VAIDYA @ Belagavi

Denying reports that the State government would close down primary schools and set up Karnataka Public Schools (KPS), Primary and Secondary Education Minister Madhu Bangarappa stated that rumours were being spread through social media. No school would be closed, rather more would be opened if the situation demands, he added.

During question hour, he said he has nowhere mentioned that Kannada medium schools would be closed, but a misconception was being spread through the media, and his government was committed to preserving Kannada schools.

However, he said KPS were being opened to upgrade the quality of education, with kindergarten to PU classes under a single roof. On children having to travel long distances to these schools, he said free transport would be provided to poor children. He promised that KPS would not affect nearby schools.

The minister informed the House that 309 public schools are functioning and 900 more would be opened in financial year 2025-26 -- 400 more than what was promised in the budget. Among the additional KPS, 200 would be established from the Rs 1250 crore fund from Kalyana Karnataka Region Development Board, and the rest from the Minority Development department for Urdu schools. Also, 100 government schools would be set up in mining-affected districts.

To a query on not allowing recruitment in government-aided primary schools, he said block education officers and deputy directors have been asked to speed up the process of furnishing details on vacant posts. He clarified that there were no financial constraints, but the process was hit due to the government's decision on internal reservation. Bangarappa said a grant of Rs 111.88 crore has been released for distributing shoes and socks to children in government and aided schools.

KEA can't follow UPSC, KPSC fee structure: Min

Higher Education Minister MC Sudhakar said the Karnataka Examinations Authority (KEA) fixes the exam fees in such a way that candidates from poor and rural backgrounds are not burdened. He said since KEA does not receive any grants from the state govt, it is not possible to follow the fee structure of UPSC or KPSC. KEA bears all expenses, including paying honorariums to officials. Nowadays, the use of modern technology has become inevitable to ensure transparency, making it difficult to manage all expenses. KEA does not make any profit from conducting exams, he clarified.

Complete inaction from Siddu govt on farmer-related problems: Vijayendra

Centre has responsibility too, says DKS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

"The Karnataka government is becoming completely inactive at a time when the legislature is expected to discuss the state's most pressing issues," alleged BJP state president BY Vijayendra at Suvarna Vidhana Soudha here on Monday.

He said, "The problems of sugarcane farmers remain unresolved, and maize growers have no one listening to their grievances. Farmers are being forced to sell their produce to middlemen at low prices. Prices of cotton, Tur dal and several other crops have crashed, yet the government is not making any effort towards farmers' welfare," he alleged.

Vijayendra said, "No development work is taking place and no recruitment is happening in key departments. The ongoing power struggle for the CM's chair has cast a dark shadow over the state."

To Congress' accusation that BJP did not support the farmers' protest in Punjab, Vijayendra said what happens in Punjab or America is not the real concern. "Our priority is Karnataka farmers, and that is why we are supporting their ongoing protest. We fully back tomorrow's farmers' agitation," he added.

Govt must address issues or step down: Chalavadi

Council Opposition leader Chalavadi Narayanaswamy said the state government should either address key public grievances or step down.

He said the government's apathy has aggravated issues concerning farmers, teachers and students. "Farmers are suffering due to excess and scanty rainfall. Maize procurement confusion continues, while sugarcane growers are protesting. The government's policies have created these crises," he said. He accused the government of neglecting the concerns of Kalyana Karnataka, Kittur Karnataka and the entire northern region.

"I have written to the Speaker insisting that North Karnataka should be given top priority. Instead, they are importing Bengaluru's issues here and sidelining regional demands," he charged. "This is a government on the loot and is unable to perform. It is only interested in protecting its own power-sharing deals. People don't want your quarrels. They want solutions. Give solutions or resign," he said.

CT Ravi demands white paper

BJP national general secretary and former minister CT Ravi on Monday accused the government of turning a blind eye to the crisis faced by maize farmers.

Ravi on Monday said maize farmers have been agitating for one-and-a-half months, yet the government has shown "absolute indifference".

"We have been raising farmers' issues continuously, and we will take it up again inside the House," he added.

He further demanded a white paper on the compensation sanctioned, disbursed, and spent so far.

DEPUTY CM DK Shivakumar on Monday said that the State Government is addressing farmers' issues in North Karnataka but reminded the Centre that it too has responsibility to solve the issues in the region.

He said the state government has already taken a 'costly' step to address issues facing sugarcane and maize farmers.' "The Centre hasn't said a word regarding issues facing sugarcane and maize growers. The BJP MPs are not raising their voice in Parliament," he said. "BJP MP Basavaraj Bommai is saying the state government has to purchase the produce. Why hasn't Bommai raised this issue in Parliament?" he said.

On the implementation of irrigation projects in the state, he said, "In the history of the state, no one has executed the quantity of work done during my tenure as irrigation minister. Let the Opposition raise these issues in the aession, I will reply."

Shivakumar hit back at Punjab Congress leader Navjot Kaur Sidhu for her "Rs 500 crore for CM post". remark. "... whoever has issued a statement like that needs to be admitted to a mental hospital," he said.

Will Cong eye Chairman's post in next session?

THE Shivakumar camp and MLCs neutral to both camps, including Puttanna, had tried to convince the party high command, but AICC General Secretary KC Venugopal did not given an audience as that would have sent a wrong signal amid the leadership crisis, sources said. But some senior MLCs, including BK Hariprasad and Congress Council chief whip Saleem Ahmed, did not support the demand as that would have put them in contention for the chairman and deputy chairman posts, dashing their hopes of becoming ministers.

Given the legacy of Horatti, most MLCs wanted him to be chairman. But Congress' M Nagaraj Yadav wrote to the Council secretary, complaining that Horatti is biased. "Being the ruling dispensation for two-and-a-half years, we aspire to have the Council chairman and deputy chairman posts as that would help the government pass certain bills easily," he said.

Congress may attempt to get the posts next session as it would have a majority in the Council on June 30, 2026 as six MLCs elected from the Assembly are retiring. Congress can win five of them.

On Yadav's allegations, like irregularities in recruiting staff at Soudha, partisan decisions and negligence in the CT Ravi vs Laxmi Hebbalkar issue, Horatti said, "I have resigned from the primary membership of a party before assuming charge as chairman. No MLC, except Yadav, has made the allegations. The test to recruit staff for Soudha was conducted by the Karnataka Examination Authority. The candidates have been selected based on merit. The tussle between CT Ravi and Laxmi Hebbalkar occurred after the House was adjourned. Yet, an ethics committee was formed, he said. Horatti said he is ready to step down if a no-confidence motion is brought against him and if anyone can prove that he has misappropriated a single rupee.

Legislative Council pays tributes to personalities who passed away recently, on Day 1 of the winter session in Belagavi on Monday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

Council pays tributes

The Council paid rich tributes to 10 personalities, including journalist T J S George. The personalities who were remembered during the obituary reference were Salumarada Thimmakka, writer SL Bhairappa, classical artist Anuradha Dhareshwar, actors Umesh and Dharmendra, former MLC K N Narahari, former MLAs R V Devaraj and HY Meti, and SR Naik

BHYRAPPA MEMORIAL IN MYS

THE Legislative Assembly opened its winter session in Belagavi on Monday with obituary references to several eminent personalities who passed away recently. Speaker UT Khader led the House in paying respects to MLA HY Meti, former MLAs RV Devaraj and Shivasharanappa Gowda Patil, environmentalist Salumarada Thimmakka, author Dr SL Bhyrappa, and comedian MS Umesh. The House observed a minute's silence.

CM Siddaramaiah said that his government will institute a state award in the name of Salumarada Thimmakka. He also said a memorial for Bhyrappa will come up in Mysuru. Siddaramaiah called Thimmakka "a mother to thousands of saplings". He said that she had requested for a museum at her native Belur, a proposal the government would now pursue. The CM praised Bhyrappa's disciplined writing life and his hit novels, including Parva, Vamshavruksha, Uttarakanda, and Nayi Neralu. "Despite ideological differences, I deeply respected his literary contributions," Siddaramaiah said.

The CM described Meti as a "secular leader loved across communities." LoP R Ashoka called Meti "a gentleman politician whose loss is irreparable to Karnataka's political landscape." He also expressed grief over the sudden death of former MLA Devaraj on his birthday and remembered actor Umesh for "bringing smiles despite personal hardships."

Anna Bhagya rice illegally sent abroad, says BJP's CT Ravi

PRAMODKUMAR VAIDYA @ Belagavi

AS many as 570 persons were arrested in 485 incidents connected with the illegal transport, storage, and sale of rice supplied under the Anna Bhagya scheme. The State government, however, has rejected the BJP's demand for a probe by an SIT into these cases.

BJP MLC CT Ravi said the rice was illegally exported to other countries.

In his reply, Food and Civil Supplies and Consumer Affairs Minister KH Muniyappa said that 29,603 quintals of rice have been recovered and 314 vehicles have been seized. He also said that 461 cases have been registered. A CID probe has been ordered in a case reported in Yadagir, and an FIR has been filed in a case in Koppal, he said.

But, Ravi maintained that going by the minister's reply, the irregularity was rampant across the state, and demand an SIT probe.

As these activities were not restricted to the state and expanded to neighbouring states, a comprehensive investigation should be conducted, he said, alleging that the rice was also being exported to other counties.

Indira Kits from Jan

Muniyappa said that the government has been taking enough legal measures to act against the forces involved in such illegal activities. Also, to discourage them, the government has intended to supply pulses, salt, sugar and oil, in place of 5 kg of additional rice, through Indira Kits, from next month. "This move could also address the issue of malnutrition," he said.

A couple returning on a two-wheeler from a pre-wedding photoshoot was killed in a head-on collision with a lorry near Chikkabenakal village in Gangavathi taluk of Koppal district. While Kavita Madiwal (19) died on the spot, Kariappa Madiwal (26) succumbed to his injuries while being shifted to a hospital. In death note, woman accuses relative, 2 others of not returning money

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

A debt-ridden woman allegedly administered poison to her 14-year-old son before consuming it at their rented house near Tavarekere in Suddaguntepalya police limits on Monday morning. Seeing them writhing in pain, the woman's 60-year-old mother is suspected to have suffered a fatal heart attack.

The deceased have been identified as Sudha, 38, a domestic help, her son Mounish, a Class 7 student, and her mother Mahadevamma.

Sudha separated from her husband a few years ago and lived with her son and mother. They are from Tamil Nadu.

According to a senior police officer, around 10am on Monday, Sudha allegedly administered poison to her son and later drank it. Seeing them writhing in pain, Mahadevamma reportedly alerted her elder daughter. Mahadevamma too died due to a suspected heart attack by the time her elder daughter arrived.

The officer said Sudha and her family visited a temple in Dharmapuri on Sunday and returned home in the evening. Sudha spoke to her sister that night. The post-mortem report will reveal the exact reason for their death, he added.

A note left by Sudha stated that she had loans to clear. She accused one of her relatives and two others of not returning the money borrowed from her.

Another police officer said Sudha had borrowed money to run a small business, but suffered losses. The lenders reportedly pressured her to repay their money. This forced her to take the extreme step.

Suddaguntepalya police have registered a case under Section 108 (abetment to suicide) of BNS based on a complaint by Sudha's aunt.

Student dies by suicide, alleges blackmail by BF

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A 22-year-old MSc student ended her life by hanging at her residence in Vibuthikere village in Ramanagara taluk, Bengaluru South district on Sunday night. She left behind a death note alleging cheating and blackmail by her boyfriend.

The deceased has been identified as Varshini, a resident of Vibuthikere village, a first-year student of MSc Biotechnology at a private college in Mysuru. She had lost her father a few years ago.

According to the police, around 11 pm on Sunday, Varshini's mother found her hanging from a ceiling fan in her room and alerted the police. The body was sent for postmortem, during which a death note was recovered. In the note, Varshini alleged that her lover, Abhi, a native of Tumakuru, cheated her on the pretext of marriage and threatened her using her private photos, demanding sexual favours. She stated that she had once become pregnant and underwent an abortion. She also accused him of taking her gold ornaments and cash. Varshini apologised to her mother and teachers for taking the extreme step, stating that she felt she had no other option left, the police said.

The Ramanagara Rural Police have registered a abetment to suicide case against Abhi.

HC: Promotion can't be withheld on contemplation of disciplinary action

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

NOTING that promotion cannot be withheld on mere contemplation of disciplinary action yet to crystalise into a charge sheet against an employee as on the date of assessment for promotion, the Karnataka High Court directed the Karnataka Power Transmission Corporation Limited (KPTCL) to promote Assistant Accounts Officer Maruthi Rao to the post of Accounts Officer with effect from April 2018 and give all consequential benefits.

"A charge sheet surfacing years after the Departmental Promotion Committee convened cannot retrospectively deprive the petitioner of a promotion that he was rightfully due and ought to have been granted upon the fair assessment of his representation. The corporation appears to have proceeded in blissful disregard of settled doctrine pertaining to commencement and pendency of disciplinary proceedings, thereby acting in blatant contravention of the governing principles of Service Jurisprudence", said Justice M Nagaprasanna, allowing the petition filed by Maruthi Rao from Dharwad.

The petitioner sought directions to the KPTCL to give him a promotion to the post of Accounts Officer with effect from April 16, 2018. Owing to certain omissions and commissions, pending initiation of disciplinary proceedings, the petitioner was placed under suspension, which was revoked after three months. His juniors were accorded promotions.

Long thereafter, on October 29, 2021, a charge sheet was issued against several others alleging offences of certain misconduct. The said charge sheet is pending consideration. The petitioner then submits a representation on July 12, 2024, claiming promotion on the score that, as on the date on which the petitioner and others were assessed for promotion, his case could not have been ignored, as there was no charge sheet on the said date.

The court noted that the charge sheet was issued only on October 29, 2021, nearly four years subsequent to a meeting of the Departmental Promotion Committee, which had, on April 16, 2018, accorded promotion to the juniors of the petitioner. The petitioner on the said date, admittedly, did not suffer any disqualification and yet his case was excluded for promotion, the court added.

Food delivery agent arrested for sexual harassment, cops suspect multiple victims

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A 24-year-old food and courier delivery agent from Malleswaram was arrested for sexually harassing women under the pretext of providing them work-from-home jobs.

The accused was identified as Shiva Shankar.

The accused was approaching victims after finding their details on a mobile application which helps users to make new friends. He was collecting their personal information and also their photographs claiming to use them for job purposes.

After morphing their images into sexually explicit material, he was harassing the victims.

The accused was arrested following a complaint from a 24-year-old woman.

The complainant, a resident of Kaggalipura, had filed a complaint against the accused on Friday. The accused was arrested on the next day from Malleswaram.

"The accused is a native of Ballari. After arresting him, we retrieved his mobile phone and sent it for analysis. We suspect that he is a habitual offender. We are checking if there are any other cases against him. He was finding the details of the victims in the app which he was also using. He has been remanded in judicial custody," said an officer.

After morphing the pictures into sexually explicit images, he was sending them back to the victims and also to their contacts. He had sent such images to the complainant's father also. He was also sending offensive and vulgar messages to their social media accounts.

The Kaggalipura police have registered a case under different sections of IT Act against the accused.

SC to hear review plea on ISKCON Temple on Jan 22

Earlier ruling said city's Hare Krishna temple belongs to B'luru ISKCON Society

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday agreed to hear on January 22, next year, a petition filed by ISKCON India seeking review of its earlier May 16 verdict holding that the Hare Krishna temple in Bengaluru belongs to ISKCON Society of the city.

A three-judge bench of the apex court, headed by Justice M M Sundresh, and also comprising Justices Prashant Kumar Mishra and Satish Chandra Sharma, issued notice to ISKCON Bangalore, and decided to review the May 16 verdict on January 22, 2026.

While admitting the review petition filed by ISKCON India and other similar petitions for hearing in the ongoing dispute, the apex court sought the response of the Bengaluru faction of the International Society for Krishna Consciousness (ISKCON) and other parties in the ongoing dispute.

"List the matter on 22.01.2026 at 3.00pm for directions, only for the purpose of ensuring that notices have been served on all the respondents. We further make it clear that on the date to be fixed for hearing, the question of review jurisdiction as well as issues on merits will be heard and considered," said, the apex court in its December 3, order, accessed by TNIE.

It also added that the applications for listing Review Petitions in open Court and for oral hearing are allowed. Applications for permission to file additional documents and for and for permission to file fresh documents are allowed.

The court also in its December 3 order, noted that Vikas Singh Jangra, AOR (Advocate on Record) accepted the notice on behalf of the respondent- ISKCON, Bangalore and Kartik Seth, for another respondent Madhupant Das.

The apex court also directed the parties to complete the pleadings within a period of six weeks from the date of service of notice. "Counsel appearing for the parties are permitted to file their respective convenience compilation(s)," said the court.

It is to be noted that the top court on May 16 had set aside the Karnataka High Court's May 2011 order giving control of the Bengaluru temple to the Mumbai faction of ISKCON.

On October 28, the over 25-year-old legal dispute between Mumbai and Bengaluru factions of ISKCON over control of the Bengaluru temple was revived after a two-judge bench of the apex court delivered a split decision on the review plea of ISKCON India seeking review of the May 16 verdict.

While Justice JK Maheshwari found substance in the plea of ISKCON India and agreed to hear the matter in open court, Justice AG Masih dismissed the review petitions filed in the matter saying there is no error apparent on the face of record or any merit in the Review Petitions warranting reconsideration of the May 16 judgment. Following this, the matter was placed before the Chief Justice of India for constituting a larger bench and a three-judge bench was formed to consider the multiple review petitions filed in the case.

List the matter on 22.01.2026 at 3.00pm for directions, only for the purpose of ensuring that notices have been served on all the respondents... the question of review jurisdiction as well as issues on merits will be heard and considered —Supreme Court bench

Ashoka takes a dig at CM over 'nati koli'

Belagavi: The 'nati koli (desi chicken) dish that Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar served CM Siddaramaiah during the breakfast he hosted has become a talking point between the CM and Leader of the Opposition R Ashok of BJP at Suvarna Vidhanasoudha in Belagavi on Monday. When CM Siddaramaiah asked Ashoka, "Why are you so slim?', the latter jokingly replied, "I have stopped eating 'nati koli', sir". Responding to this, Siddaramaiah said with a smile, "You should not stop eating it, you should eat it often". Later, the two leaders also posed for a photograph. ENS

Siddu will complete term: Yathindra

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Belagavi

EVEN as Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy CM DK Shivakumar are chanting the unity mantra with their breakfast meetings, Congress MLC Dr Yathindra Siddaramaiah said his father will be in office for the full five-year term. He said that the Congress high command is yet to take any decision on the issue, he said.

"There was no power tussle... it was all created by the Opposition. DK Shivakumar has asked for an opportunity (to serve as CM). The high command said there was no situation as such to change the leadership. The BJP has been saying that the CM will change since the Congress government came to power. They can only dream about it," the MLC told reporters, adding that the high command leaders did not summon Siddaramaiah for any discussion.

Meanwhile, Urban Development Minister Byrathi Suresh said, "Whether it will be five years is a matter left to the high command. So none of us can talk about this. For now, issues concerning North Karnataka should be discussed in the Belagavi session."

Former minister KN Rajanna said he will not become minister if Shivakumar becomes the CM. Food and Civil Supplies Minister KH Muniyappa said both Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar are united and will face the Opposition together. "Our aim is to discuss the issues of North Karnataka. Let the Opposition move a no-confidence motion...," he said.

But Shivakumar's camp expects that Sonia Gandhi may summon both him and the CM after the state legislature and Parliament sessions conclude on December 19.

Varsity guest lecturers seek regularisation of service

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

Members of the Karnataka State Universities Guest Lecturers' Association have urged the government to regularise their services at the earliest.

Dr Gangadhar Reddy N, president of the association, said on Monday that Bangalore University has not made any recruitment for vacant posts of professor or assistant professor since 1998. This has hampered the quality of higher education and research in the university, he said, adding, "Guest lecturers form 94% of teaching staff. The situation is no different in other universities, including Mysore, Tumkur, Kannada, Gulbarga and Karnatak."

For good ranking under National Institutional Ranking Framework (NIRF) and to get Central funds, the university submitted a list of guest lecturers as regular faculty members. Guest lecturers have all qualifications as per UGC norms, including SLET, NET and PhD, and have 15 years of teaching experience. Despite these qualifications, their services have not been regularised. They are paid between Rs 25,000 and Rs 50,000 only. The BU was ranked 65th in the country by NIRF in 2025, he said.

DILEEP TARGETS EX-WIFE, CALLS IT A CONSPIRACY

Special public prosecutor Ajakumar addresses the media in Kochi | A SANESH

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kochi

MOMENTS after the acquittal of actor Dileep in the 2017 actor abduction case, he launched a sharp attack on his former wife, actor Manju Warrier, alleging that the "real conspiracy" against him began after she hinted at foul play in the case. "The conspiracy against me began after Manju claimed there was a conspiracy behind the case," Dileep said, directly linking her public statements to what he described as a coordinated attempt to frame him.

He alleged that a senior official and "certain criminal police officers" then moved to push the investigation in a particular direction. According to him, the police "fabricated a false story" in collusion with the co-accused inside the jail and amplified it through mainstream and social media "with the help of certain news channels and journalists."

"But today, that false story has collapsed before the court," he said. "The real conspiracy was to implicate me— to destroy my career, my reputation, and my life."

The actor thanked his family, friends and "the crores of people" who supported him throughout the eight-year legal battle. Manju's allegation of a criminal conspiracy became a turning point in the actor abduction case, which came out on February 19, 2025, during a public gathering at Ernakulam Durbar Hall Ground—where the film fraternity came together to express solidarity with their colleague and strongly condemn the assault.

KERALA TO APPEAL VERDICT

Kochi: The Kerala government on Monday said it will appeal against the verdict of the Ernakulam District and Principal Sessions Court that acquitted actor Dileep in the 2017 actor abduction and sexual assault case. Law Minister P Rajeeve said the government "stands firmly with the survivor" and will take all necessary legal steps to ensure that justice is pursued "to its fullest extent". The court had found accused 1 to 6 — including prime accused Sunil N S aka Pulsar Suni — guilty, while acquitting accused 7 to 11. Dileep, the eighth accused, was among those cleared of all charges after the court held that the prosecution failed to prove the conspiracy allegation. Rajeeve said every stage of the investigation and prosecution was carried out in close consultation with the survivor and the prosecution team. "From the very beginning, we have remained committed to supporting the survivor and upholding her faith in the justice system," he added. ENS

DEEPAM ROW

INDIA bloc to submit impeachment notice against judge

S KUMARESAN @Chennai

MEMBERS of Parliament from INDIA bloc parties in Tamil Nadu are mobilising signatures to submit a notice to Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla to adopt a motion for removing Justice G R Swaminathan of the Madras High Court.

Justice Swaminathan, who is no stranger to controversy, has come under severe criticism from the ruling DMK and its allies in TN over the past week for his order allowing for a lamp to be lit on a post close to a dargah on Thiruparankundram Hill during the Karthigai Deepam festival. While MPs of the ruling DMK were tight-lipped on the effort, at least three Lok Sabha MPs from allied parties confirmed the development. One of the MPs said the notice is likely to be submitted to the speaker on Tuesday. The MPs, however, did not elaborate on the exact grounds on which they are pressing for the judge's removal. Once submitted, the speaker can examine the relevant material and decide whether to admit the motion or not.

"We are collecting signatures from MPs from all states since a minimum of 100 signatures are required for the notice to be submitted to the Lok Sabha speaker," one of the MPs told TNIE.

The notice for removal of a judge can be initiated in either House of Parliament. If the notice is initiated in the Rajya Sabha, the signatures of at least 50 MPs from the Upper House are needed to submit the notice to its speaker. The Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments department, which manages the famous hill temple, had cited the decades-long tradition of lighting the lamp at the Uchipillaiyar temple on the hill as well as earlier HC orders while pleading before Justice Swaminathan against the granting of approval. Eventually, the state government did not adhere to single judge's orders.

Curfew imposed, internet banned in Malkangiri

DEBA PRASAD DASH @ Malkangiri

MALKANGIRI district in ODisha was on the boil for the second consecutive day as mobs in thousands continued their rampage in MV-26, torching more houses of Bengali settlers and forcing the inhabitants to flee the village.

With situation going out of control despite heightened security arrangements, the district administration clamped a curfew in the area while internet services were suspended across the district for 24 hours from 6 pm on Monday.

Teenager killed by fiance month before wedding

Hyderabad: A 19-year-old woman was allegedly killed by her fiance at her home in Bapuji Nagar, Warasiguda, on Monday. The victim, Pavithra, had completed her Intermediate last year. Waras-iguda police said Pavithra and the accused, Uma Shankar, were engaged and their marriage was scheduled for Sankranthi 2026. Three days ago, Pavithra travelled to Vijayawada with her parents and sister. Shankar had reportedly told her not to go to the temple, but she went anyway and returned on Sunday evening. On Monday, Shankar visited her house and confronted her about the trip. ENS

Kurubas to hold massive protest on December 15

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru/ Belagavi

DOZENS of Kuruba organisations, including the Karnataka Pradesh Kuruba ST Horata Samiti, have announced a large-scale protest in Belagavi on December 15 to press for the inclusion of the entire Kuruba community into the Scheduled Tribe (ST) category.

Samiti president Siddanna Theji told reporters that around 20,000 members from all 30 districts are expected to participate; Belagavi alone has over 5 lakh Kurubas. "Our only demand is that Kurubas be categorised as Scheduled Tribe across the state," he said. Theji highlighted "historical injustice" to the community. "In Kodagu and Bidar districts, Kurubas enjoy ST status and reservation benefits, but in the rest of Karnataka, we remain in the 2A OBC category.

The community is recognised as ST in Maharashtra and Gujarat, and SC in Madhya Pradesh, Uttar Pradesh and Uttarakhand," he added.

'Lithium deposit discovered in 2023, but no drilling work has been done'

DETAILS of the findings and clearances to be obtained were discussed by officials from state and central government agencies at the last detailed board meeting in November 2025.

The study and exploration of rare and precious metals is done in four stages. The first two stages combine reconnaissance, pitting and fencing. The final two stages involve drilling up to 500 metres and preliminary mining. The first two stages have been completed in Koppal and Raichur."The lithium deposit was discovered in 2023 after detailed work. Large gold deposits were found in Amrapur in 2020, but work proceeded from 2024-25. No drilling work has been done so far in both locations. we are also worried about the safety of our ground staff. They are constantly threatened by those who want to illegally exploit the resource and those who want to stop the study," sources added.

Forest department officials said pressure is building on them to give clearances. "Multiple proposals have been made before us and the pressure is mounting year after year. The proposal for lithium extraction is at the Lingsugur reserve forest patch, while for gold it is in the Amrapur reserve forest patch in Kushtagi. We cannot open protected virgin forest areas for mining. Forests are also an essential ecological wealth," said a forest official.

The Mines and Geology Department is working with the Geological Survey of India in 57 locations and private agencies in eight locations. The minerals being explored for extraction include platinum group of metals, bauxite, copper, cobalt, nickel, sillimanite, tungsten, vanadium, uranium, diamond, columbite-tantalite, manganese, chromite and rare earth elements including Kyanite and Xenotime in 6,73,660.39 hectares of land.

INDIGO MESS A PLANNING FAILURE FOR BOTH AIRLINE AND THE AUTHORITIES

AN airline that carries almost two-thirds of India's domestic passengers has thrown the plans of lakhs of Indians off course for nearly a week. And the return to normalcy is still not in sight. The IndiGo mess is not just about a low-cost carrier sticking to its high-margin model. It is about a market leader that failed to prepare and about regulators who did not see trouble building up until it spilled over into the public domain.

The government relaxed the flying-time norms meant to reduce pilot fatigue only after the crisis became unmanageable. IndiGo had known for more than a year that the Directorate General of Civil Aviation's revised flight-duty limits would come into effect on November 1. Yet it claimed to be blindsided. The fallout was more than 2,000 cancelled flights, long queues at airports, and passengers stranded for up to 36 hours. When the largest player in the market says it cannot cope, it raises uncomfortable questions about basic operational planning that cannot be brushed aside.

This crisis did not arrive overnight. The immediate trigger was an Airbus advisory that required A320 aircraft to update their flight-management systems. Newer planes needed a simple software patch, while older aircraft required hardware changes. That set off the first round of delays and cancellations. A seasonal surge in travel and an expanded schedule stretched the system further. IndiGo continued to push new routes—26 of them this financial year—without adding enough pilots and co-pilots. When the new duty-time norms kicked in, the network simply buckled, exposing long-standing cracks.

The government acted only after lakhs of citizens had a miserable weekend. It moved to cap ticket prices, ordered quick refunds and baggage returns for IndiGo passengers, and set up a central monitoring cell. When the matter reached the Supreme Court, Chief Justice Surya Kant noted that many stranded passengers may even need medical attention, underlining the human cost of the chaos.

Such an operational failure cannot be glossed over. Accountability is needed, both from IndiGo and from the DGCA. The episode is also a warning about the dangers of an aviation market where one airline is overwhelmingly dominant. India has seen too many carriers collapse, leaving just two major players to carry the load of nationwide connectivity. That must change. So must the cost structures, regulatory vigilance, and lopsided market forces that have repeatedly held back Indian aviation.

VERDICT SHOULDN'T TURN CLOCK BACK IN MOLLYWOOD

THE abduction and rape of a leading actress in the Malayalam film industry—and the subsequent arrest of superstar Dileep—had shaken Mollywood like never before. The survivor's unprecedented decision to pursue the case to its logical end created a stir across Kerala. The investigation into the 2017 incident took a dramatic turn when the police concluded that the attack was not a random act of violence, but part of a larger conspiracy meant to intimidate her. This line of inquiry eventually led to Dileep. After almost nine years and several twists in the trial, the Ernakulam Principal Sessions Court has now acquitted the actor-producer, the seventh accused, while finding the other six accused guilty. Shortly after his acquittal, Dileep claimed that a "conspiracy" had sought to pin the blame on him. The government, however, has decided to appeal the verdict in the high court and has assured the survivor of support until she gets justice.

The survivor's courage and Dileep's arrest were turning points for the Malayalam film industry in more ways than one. The sexually suggestive jokes passed off as slapstick comedy—a trademark of many Dileep films—began to recede. The industry ushered in a new wave of cinema that was more inclusive and appealed to a pan-Indian audience. The formation of the Women in Cinema Collective (WCC), which coincided with the case, helped shift long-skewed gender relations in the industry. The Hema Committee, set up to look into allegations of sexual harassment and violence, was another constructive outcome. That the survivor continued her cinematic journey instead of withdrawing from public view was an act of courage that inspired others facing similar ordeals.

While the WCC has vowed continued support to the survivor, the manner in which other industry bodies—including the Association of Malayalam Movie Artists and the Malayalam Cine Technicians Association—have responded to the verdict is worrying. Their swift decision to welcome the actor back into their fold is troubling, especially when the survivor is one of their own and an appeal is imminent. It is the responsibility of every progressive film lover to ensure that this verdict does not reverse the shift in power dynamics and film grammar that the case had helped bring about.

QUICK TAKE

CONTAINING NOXIOUS VAPOURS

QUESTIONS over anti-pollution measures have kept the Union ministry of environment busy during the ongoing session of parliament. Of the four answers tabled by the ministry on Monday, the one over ground-level ozone threw light on less-heeded pollutants such as benzene and other volatile organic compounds emitted at petrol pumps, which can not only be carcinogenic but can damage flora too. In 2016, the government had instructed busy petrol pumps to install vapour recovery systems. The National Green Tribunal expanded the order's scope in 2021 to include more retail outlets in cities with million-plus inhabitants. A reply tabled in August 2023 showed the state-wise progress on compliance. We need reports on annual checks to ensure full compliance at all times.

More than issuing apologies, India's biggest airline must compensate those who faced cancellations and reward their front-office workers who fielded the flak. Otherwise, it may lose its hard-earned brand mojo

SOURAV ROY

THE week gone by has been one of rage. The months of November and December 2025 will be remembered by IndiGo Airlines and most certainly by those who used it for travel as months of trauma. And drama.

IndiGo cancelled as many as 2,000-plus flights (the number climbing by the hour even as you read this) with a decision that left hundreds of thousands of passengers in the lurch. It began with delays announced in installments of 30 minutes, in true-blue heritage airline style, and then most ended with cancellations. These many cancelled flights meant cancelled plans and loss of time, energy, carefully-laid plans and money, as far as passengers were concerned. Some missed weddings, some missed funerals, and some missed very important meetings.

In short, large-scale cancellations by India's largest airline meant putting thousands of lives and plans in disarray. As these many people grappled with their personal losses, the airline went contrite. It took full-page advertisements in newspapers to say sorry. These apology ads, coming in the wake of a genre of faux apology ads taken by many a brand across the world, sadly did not mean much to those affected.

India went angry. There were a set of people who went ballistic on the airline and its management systems. Television channels and newspapers were filled with rage. Social media went a step further with memes of every kind that decimated a brand built assiduously, one well-managed flight at a time, over the past 19 years. The now-common device of rage-bait was used and social media algorithms went berserk upping the ante of this movement. Hashtags of every kind went viral, including one that said #MakeThemPay. All of India got involved in this debate of the airline traveller who lost his travel. Everyone with a smartphone pitched into the debate.

In many ways, this crisis exposed the soft-underbelly of brand IndiGo. The brand seems to carry a lot of negative weight for sure, with a whole host of loyal passengers willing to do a quick flip on it. Many berated the airline for being one without empathy for its users. Many criticised the cost-cutting measures seen in its bony seats. Even more pitched in to recall every disgruntlement they have ever had on their travels. Nothing was forgotten.

This critique had its own levels on the passion scale of involvement. It was from a reasonably low level of a whine to a rabid call for action. In the bargain, everyone forgot the many flights flown by the airline to date, the conveniences availed with connections to remote locations not catered to by any other airline, and the rather uneventful run of the airline to date, especially with a large crisis.

The airline has always been nifty and clever in its branding. Its call sign is 6E (and that's meant to be sexy). Its play with words is always a pleasure to devour. It even took out an ad campaign 10 years ago that said, 'Sleep with your wife'. It was all about same-day return flights from metros. Taking the same genre of talk ahead, I remember seeing one that said, 'We do it 28 times a day'. It meant the frequency of their Delhi-Mumbai flights, of course. Brand IndiGo meant being ahead of the race, being savvy, being safe, being reliable, and most importantly, being on time. The airline invented for itself a time standard of its own even, the IndiGo Standard Time. Remember?

Therefore, when all hell breaks loose, consumers question. An airline that claims for itself a platinum status for delivery will always be under acute customer scrutiny. IndiGo got its unfair and fair share of flak over the week. Even as I write this, there is rumour of stiff and punitive action against the airline by the Directorate General of Civil Aviation, and, indeed, the government itself. Airlines in India have become the lifeline of the nation at the upper end of the pyramid of decision-making. An airline that owns 63 percent of this share cannot afford to fault. When it does, it disrupts. It disrupts lives, imagery, and most importantly the basic craving of wanting to lead a predictable life, at least when it comes to travel.

What went wrong then? Well, available data sets point to one simple fact. The airline took the DGCA and its announced flight duty time limitation rule changes for granted. The airline failed to plan for 20 long months. An airline that fails to plan, plans to fail. In this case it did. If the Centre's mandate was neglected for as long as these many years since announcement, either you took the government for granted. Or your board and the risk management committee in particular failed to address the key issues of good governance with care. Both wrong, I guess. An airline needs to perennially balance its profit mandate with safety norms specified by the regulator. I guess all of us know which should come first. Did IndiGo?

This week of rage will also pass. Public memory is proverbially and really short. It shall be business as usual. Penalties will be levied and possibly heads (or a single head) will roll. All these will be really symbolic gestures. You and I will board an IndiGo plane once again, and this week of rage will be forgotten.

At the end of it all, when I look at the IndiGo full-page apology ad, I feel sad. A mere 'sorry' is not enough really, dear IndiGo. I wish you had just given out compensation instead to all those whose lives were affected by cancellations and long delays. I know you cannot compensate for the 'real' losses of the people who missed their flights and plans.

If I were you, I would give one IndiGo share to everyone who suffered a delayed flight. And maybe five shares to everyone who faced a cancelled flight. Now that would make shareholders (even if notional) out of disgruntled and affected flyers. That, I think, would be more meaningful than an apology ad. 'Sorry' must be seen, felt, smelt, heard, touched, and experienced. And please do reward everyone of your poor front-ended employees who faced the flak of this customer service disaster. They are your true soldiers who held fort.

As for the other airlines in India, please don't gloat. You did no better. You raised your prices and milked the situation to your good and you played Shylock well. Airline vulturism was at its worst for three full days. Till sanity prevailed and a price-cap was established. Touché!

FOREIGN CAMPUSES, INDIAN CONCERNS

JOHN J KENNEDY
Former Professor and Dean, Christ (Deemed) University, Bengaluru

THE decision to allow foreign universities in India is not just a policy shift, but indicates a profound change in the politics and economics of higher education. During his visit earlier this year, UK Prime Minister Keir Starmer led a delegation of 14 university vice-chancellors, all of whom were exploring opportunities under the new University Grants Commission rules. The 2023 regulations allow the world's top 500 universities to set up campuses in India. No doubt, it shows India's openness to global partnerships. But behind the rhetoric lies a mix of economic, political, and ideological interests on both sides.

The National Education Policy 2020 aims to make the country a global education hub. However, instead of building up its own universities to reach that standard, the government has invited established Western players to fill the gap. And that raises a pertinent question: is India building a self-reliant education system, or merely outsourcing its academic aspirations?

From Britain's perspective, the rationale is primarily financial. Once flush with endowments and stable funding, many UK universities are struggling now. Inflation, capped tuition fees, and shrinking government grants have left them running deficits. Making things worse, tighter visa rules have curbed international student inflows, which once contributed £37.4 billion annually to the UK economy. Faced with this challenge, expanding into India appears to be a smart business decision. With millions of English-speaking students and a booming middle class, India is a lucrative education market. It's no surprise, therefore, that Starmer's government is keen to tap into it.

However, the worrying concern is that education looks less like a cultural exchange and more like a commercial export. British university degrees in India are marketed as aspirational, prestigious, and globally recognised. The pitch sounds compelling: 'a UK degree without leaving home'. But the reality is more complex. The costs will almost certainly be higher than those of Indian public universities, and the degrees may not carry the same global acceptance as those obtained by studying in the UK. Graduates of these Indian campuses, although technically earning UK-accredited degrees, may not enjoy the same post-study work rights as their counterparts who study in the UK.

Of course, these campuses promise access to international faculty, modern infrastructure, and globally aligned curricula. However, that promise will probably be limited to a small, affluent demographic. Much like India's top private universities, the new foreign campuses may offer quality education, but at prohibitive costs. In a country where public universities still educate the overwhelming majority, this trend risks widening the already deep divide between those who can afford premium education and those who cannot.

UOE

> By inviting Western universities to set up Indian campuses, are we outsourcing our aspiration to be a global academic hub? The premiums such brands demand will deepen the economic divide in higher education. True internationalisation should be about equal partnerships involving intellectual reciprocity

This concern becomes clearer when we examine the condition of India's public universities. Many have faced budget cuts and growing administrative control over the past decade. At the same time, the government has actively courted private and foreign players. And now, through this new initiative, the government has conveyed that education is shifting from a public good to a private commodity. Treating education as a tradeable service undermines it as a public right.

Sadly, and quite ironically, India's own attempts at international collaboration haven't fared particularly well. The South Asian University, established in Delhi as a joint initiative of SAARC nations, was meant to be a symbol of regional cooperation. However, political interference, discrimination, and curbs on dissent have tarnished that vision. If India struggles to ensure academic freedom in a regional university it hosts, can it realistically guarantee autonomy for branches of powerful Western institutions?

Besides, there's the question of competition. Indian public universities, already burdened by limited funds, and bureaucratic hurdles, will now face competition from foreign institutions with global brand power and deeper pockets. Even partnerships between the two may become lopsided, with Indian universities relegated to a feeder or satellite status. Over time, this could trigger a quiet brain drain within the country itself, drawing the best faculty, diverting philanthropic funding, and further weakening the public education ecosystem.

Although proponents argue that foreign campuses will raise standards and provide global exposure to Indian education, let us remember that real internationalisation isn't about franchised campuses or imported syllabi. It requires equal partnerships: shared research, genuine student exchange, and intellectual reciprocity. A British university in Gurugram may carry London's prestige, but can it recreate the same academic environment, diversity, or freedom? Will it build communities of learning, or simply expand its market footprint?

So, the debate isn't a clash between globalisation and nationalism; it's about the terms of engagement. If India wants to be a true global education hub, it must prioritise equity, autonomy, and accountability. Foreign institutions can add value, but only if they strengthen rather than overshadow Indian universities. Otherwise, India risks turning higher education into a marketplace of imported dreams—glittering on the surface, hollow beneath.

'UCC about women security, not surveillance'

Religious freedom fully intact in U'khand, allegations driven by professional agitators, says CM Pushkar Singh Dhami

AFTER breaking Uttarakhand's decades-old political jinx in 2022—becoming the first party to win back-to-back mandates since the state's creation—the BJP under Chief Minister Pushkar Singh Dhami has moved with renewed force, pushing landmark measures such as the Uniform Civil Code. As the state goes to polls in 2027, Dhami speaks to Narendra Sethi about his development roadmap and the strategy behind the BJP's bid for an unprecedented third term. Excerpts:

As Uttarakhand completes 25 years of statehood, how do you assess your government's contribution to this development journey?
Uttarakhand has completed 25 years. The people of this state have given the BJP the opportunity to serve for nearly 15 of those years. The 'real' development of the state has occurred during these 15 years. Revered Atal Bihari Vajpayee not only gave us a separate state but also provided a special industrial package early on. Following that, since 2014, the state has continuously received the blessings of Prime Minister Modi ji. The progress achieved over the last 11 years, driven by the cooperation of the Central Government, is visible to everyone. Currently, various projects worth over two lakh crore rupees are underway in Uttarakhand. Through these efforts, the state's economy has expanded 26 times, and the per capita income has grown 17-fold.

Uttarakhand's economy has surged from ₹14,501 crore at statehood to a projected ₹3,78,240 crore in 2024–25, with per capita income rising from ₹15,285 to ₹2,74,064. With the UCC, strict anti-cheating and anti-conversion laws, the state's governance model is now gaining national attention.

Your government has consistently performed strongly in local body elections. Do you anticipate this trend continuing in the 2027 Assembly polls?
Yes, not just local body elections, but the BJP has performed well in every election since 2022, including the Lok Sabha polls, Panchayat polls, and Assembly by-elections. Our government's performance and the strength of the BJP organisation gives us a clear edge in the electoral arena.

The opposition lacks any substantive issues, nor is their organisation capable enough. Therefore, we are unequivocally set to secure a clear majority in the 2027 elections.

Critics argue that recent legislation, particularly the UCC, infringes upon religious freedoms guaranteed under the Constitution. How do you respond to these allegations of constitutional overreach?
The government implements every law based on its legislative authority. The people of this state granted the BJP a clear mandate in 2022 precisely to enable us to govern effectively. Therefore, how can any law passed by this Assembly be deemed unconstitutional? Has anyone in this state been prevented from conducting their personal religious or cultural activities as they wish? If not, how can the issue of violating religious freedom even arise?

Such claims are propagated only by a few rootless 'professional agitators' whose influence extends no further than social media, having no traction in the real world or among the general populace.

Verbatim

The BJP's decision-making process is renowned for its organizational strength. Where do you fit into this structure, and how do you view your role?
In the BJP, decisions are made through a structured, long-term organizational vision. Every worker holds importance; no role is inherently small or large. As for my role, the people of Uttarakhand gave the BJP a renewed mandate in 2022—a first in the state's history. Following this, the party entrusted me, once again, with the responsibility of being the 'Chief Servant' of the state.

Your government has been highly active in protecting the state's cultural identity and security. How do you define the steps taken in this regard?
Uttarakhand is the sacred land of the Char Dhams; divinity resides in every particle here, hence it is called 'Devbhoomi.' We are resolute in preserving this cultural identity. To this end, the government is strictly dealing with forced religious conversions and removing illegal religious structures. We aim to maintain the state's demographic balance.

There is significant discussion and apprehension surrounding the Live-in Registration aspect of the UCC. What is your perspective?
Live-in registration is a very small component of the entire UCC framework. Its primary function is to strengthen the social security of our sisters and daughters. We believe the Uniform Civil Code must be viewed in its entirety, not just through isolated points. The UCC is fully delivering on its stated objectives.

SC guidelines to check insensitive handlings in sexual offence cases soon

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Monday stayed the the Allahabad High Court's March 17 ruling which held that "mere" grabbing the breasts of a minor victim and breaking the string of her pyjama to "bring down" her lower garment are insufficient to draw an inference that the accused were "determined to commit rape".

A two-judge bench of Chief Justice Surya Kant and Justice Joymalya Bagchi said that the final hearing of the case will be held in January. The bench indicated that it will lay down guidelines for the trial court in connection with POCSO (Protection of Children from Sexual Offences) cases.

Senior Advocate, Shobha Gupta, appearing as an amicus curiae, argued that the HC had remarked in another case that 'the victim invited trouble by first drinking liquor and then agreeing to go to the place of the accused in the night'. Calcutta HC and Rajasthan HC have also observed similar things, which are "totally insensitive, legally unsustainable and sends a wrong message to the society at large".

Adv. Prashanth Padmanabhan appearing for an NGO 'Stree Shakti' added that in a session court proceeding on Monday, a girl was allegedly harassed during an in camera proceedings.

After hearing submissions, the Chief Justice Kant asked the advocates to cite these instances in a written note, and said that a set of guidelines for all high courts and lower courts would be issued, as such observations as impugned "can have a chilling effect on victims and the society at large," observed the court.

Over 10L hit by IndiGo fiasco: Officials

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

OVER 10 lakh passengers were affected as IndiGo cancelled multiple flights in the first week of December. On Monday, the airline cancelled 500 flights, and operated up to 1,800 aircraft across its domestic network. The Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) is currently examining the airline's response to a show-cause notice issued to its CEO before taking any enforcement action, sources said.

Officials from the Ministry of Civil Aviation said that between December 1 and 7, 5,86,705 ticket PNRs (Passenger Name Records) were cancelled. Since each PNR can include multiple passengers—up to nine in standard bookings and more in bulk bookings, the actual number of impacted passengers is significantly higher. Including cancellations from late November, a total of 9,55,591 PNRs were affected between November 21 and December 7.

An IndiGo spokesperson said that by Monday, the airline had restored operations across all 138 destinations on its network. In a statement, the airline noted that it operated over 1,800 flights on Monday, up from 1,650 on Sunday, achieving 90% on-time performance compared with 75% the previous day. Several internal processes were expedited to resume normal operations and reduce passenger inconvenience.

'Combination of factors caused cancellations'

In its preliminary explanation, IndiGo attributed the disruptions to a combination of factors: minor technical glitches, schedule changes linked to the start of the winter season, adverse weather, increased congestion in the aviation system, and implementation of updated crew rostering rules under the Flight Duty Time Limitation Phase II. The airline said these compounding factors caused a drop in performance.

IndiGo has refunded ₹827 crore to customers for cancellations up to December 15. Regarding baggage handling, the airline said 50% of delayed luggage had already been delivered, with over 4,500 bags returned to customers and the remainder expected within 36 hours. Additionally, the airline arranged more than 9,500 hotel rooms and nearly 10,000 cabs and buses for affected passengers between December 1 and 7, assisting over 2 lakh customers daily through various communication channels. For the first time, IndiGo acknowledged sending advance notifications about cancellations, stating that all changes to Monday's schedule were communicated a day in advance.

Meanwhile, the DGCA said IndiGo had requested a fortnight to conduct a comprehensive Root Cause Analysis (RCA) of the disruption. A preliminary explanation was submitted on Monday evening, and it is reviewing it before deciding on enforcement action.

IndiGo told the DGCA that pinpointing the exact causes of the disruption was "realistically not possible" at this stage due to the scale and complexity of operations. The airline cited the DGCA manual, which allows a 15-day response period for show-cause notices as the basis for the extended timeline.

In its preliminary explanation, IndiGo attributed the disruptions to a combination of factors: minor technical glitches, schedule changes linked to the start of the winter season, adverse weather, increased congestion in the aviation system, and implementation of updated crew rostering rules under the Flight Duty Time Limitation Phase II. The airline said these compounding factors caused a drop in on-time network performance, which in turn affected crew availability.

IndiGo reportedly took the "drastic measure" of rebooting its network on December 5, by cancelling a significant number of flights to recover stranded passengers, ease airport congestion, and reposition crew and aircraft. The airline, which is the market leader in the country, expressed regret over the inconvenience caused.

Democracy and Pakistan do not go together, says MEA on Imran Khan

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

COMMENTING on the political situation in Pakistan, External Affairs Ministry spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal on Monday said that "democracy and Pakistan don't go together." He was responding to a question about the state of democracy in the neighbouring country, including developments related to former Prime Minister Imran Khan and ongoing protests.

On being asked whether democratic structures in Pakistan were weakening, Jaiswal said India continues to monitor developments. "We keep a close eye on every development in Pakistan. But regarding democracy, you're saying that 'democracy in Pakistan is becoming weak and its strengths are being weakened'. Democracy and Pakistan don't go together. The less we talk the better," he said.

On a separate query regarding recent border clashes between Pakistan and Afghanistan, Jaiswal expressed concern over reports of civilian deaths. "We have seen reports of border clashes in which several Afghan civilians have been killed. We condemn such attacks on innocent Afghan people. India strongly supports the territorial integrity, sovereignty and independence of Afghanistan," he said.

We keep a close eye on every development in Pakistan. But regarding democracy, you're saying that 'democracy in Pakistan is becoming weak and its strengths are being weakened'. Democracy and Pakistan don't go together.

Randhir Jaiswal, MEA spokesperson

The remarks came amid rising tensions between Islamabad and Kabul. Pakistan and Afghanistan exchanged heavy gunfire along their border last Friday, which follows the collapse of peace talks between the two countries last weekend. Meanwhile, protests linked to Imran Khan's incarceration continued, with reports emerging that authorities at Rawalpindi's Adiala Jail last week allowed Khan's sister, Uzma Khanum, to meet him while PTI supporters demonstrated outside the Islamabad High Court and the prison over restrictions on his visitation rights.

Jaiswal also addressed questions on concerns regarding Indian nationals travelling through China after a recent incident involving UK-based Indian citizen Pema Wangjom Thongdok. "We would advise Indian nationals to exercise due discretion while travelling to or transiting through China. Hope regulations governing international air travel would be respected by the Chinese side," he said.

Reiterating India's long-standing position, Jaiswal said, "Arunachal Pradesh is and will remain an integral part of India, and we do not want any interference in it." He added that India–China relations were "gradually moving in a positive direction" and that New Delhi intended to "keep it moving in that direction."

After Lok Sabha, Upper House clears bill to levy cess on pan masala units

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

THE Parliament on Monday approved the Health Security and National Security Cess Bill 2025, seeking a cess on manufacturing units of pan masala to augment expenditure on national security and public health. The bill was approved by the lower house on Friday.

As the bill was taken up in the upper house for discussion, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman said that it intends to create a "dedicated resource stream" for two domains of national importance: health and national security.

"It is not on essential commodities, and does not envisage any future when it may have to be placed on an essential commodity... "This tax or cess is to be a deterrent to those who tend to use these demerit goods, and it certainly doesn't burden ordinary citizens and their essential daily consumption," she said.

She also clarified that it does not impact the GST regime. "The cess is linked to the capacity of packing machines... and the grammage of products, thus providing a transparent and predictable assessment basis..." The intention is that this levy shall capture the production potential of the unit... The levy is not on actual production, but production capacity," Sitharaman said.

Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman speaks in the Rajya Sabha on Monday | PTI

Opposition MPs, however, questioned the bill's title being a mix of Hindi and English words and also demanded that the bill be sent to a parliamentary panel for further scrutiny.

Congress MP Shaktisingh Gohil questioned the title of the bill and said the bill was listed late, which didn't give members enough time to go through it to move amendments.

Trinamool Congress MP Saket Gokhale also questioned the bill's title and said, "If you want to be inclusive, maybe, since Bengal elections are coming, bring a bill named in Bangla... we will also celebrate it."

POWER CORRIDOR

VP CONTRIBUTES MONTH'S SALARY TO ARMY FUND

Vice President CP Radhakrishnan has contributed his entire one month's salary to the Armed Forces Flag Day Fund (AFFDF). The Armed Forces Flag Day is observed on December 7 every year to honour battle casualties and men in uniform who fought bravely along the borders of our Nation. On this day, donations are collected for AFFDF, which are used for the welfare and rehabilitation of war widows, dependents of battle casualties and Ex-Servicemen (ESM), including the disabled. On the occasion, Radhakrishnan, urged Rajya Sabha members to contribute generously and suggested that they request their friends and relatives to make contributions. "The Hon'ble Vice-President also appealed to all citizens to collectively express their gratitude to our martyrs, disabled soldiers, and their families by voluntarily contributing to the Armed Forces Flag Day Fund," read a post made from VP's account on Sunday.

PANEL BATS FOR PEN-AND-PAPER EXAMS

A Parliamentary panel has called for greater focus on conducting entrance exams in pen-and-paper mode, citing several leak-proof models such as CBSE and UPSC exams, and observed that the National Testing Agency's (NTA) performance has failed to inspire confidence. The panel, headed by Congress MP Digvijaya Singh, noted that in 2024, out of 14 competitive examinations conducted by the NTA, at least five faced major issues. As a result, three examinations, UGC-NET, CSIR-NET, and NEET-PG had to be postponed, the report said.

NEW ITR FORM TO BE NOTIFIED BEFORE '27-28

The new income tax returns (ITR) form based on the I-T Act, 2025, will be notified prior to 2027-28 fiscal year, Minister of State for Finance Pankaj Chaudhary said on Monday. The CBDT committee on simplification of ITR forms is carrying out extensive consultations with tax experts, institutional bodies, and field formations of the I-T Department, he said in a written reply in the Lok Sabha. The Income Tax Act, 2025, enacted on August 21, will come into effect from next financial year, beginning April 1, 2026.

Not against Islam, but was anti-Bengal Nawab, says Rajnath on Vande Mataram

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

ECHOING Prime Minister Narendra Modi's claim of Congress's appeasement politics, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh on Monday said the time had come for an unbiased evaluation of "Vande Mataram" and asserted that the entire song and the "Anand Math" book were never anti-Islam, but reflected the popular sentiments against the Nawab of Bengal and British imperialism.

Participating in the debate on the '150th anniversary of national song Vande Mataram', Singh noted that "Vande Mataram" is complete in itself, but there have been attempts to render it incomplete. He called for a return to the song's glory.

Singh pointed out that "Vande Mataram" was marginalised after Independence and did not receive the recognition it deserved.

Questioning the ruling party's claim to the legacy of the freedom struggle, Trinamool Congress MP Mahua Moitra accused the BJP of using national song as an electoral wedge ahead of the 2026 Bengal polls, claiming that it was "butchering the soul" of the song "far more than any 1937 resolution ever did."

Calling the BJP's commitment to the song "a badly scripted comedy," she mocked party MPs for, according to her, being unable to correctly sing Vande Mataram.

Moitra claimed the timing of the debate was politically motivated, alleging that "some half-wit BJP IT cell minion has probably advised you that the Vande Mataram card, if played right, will give an advantage to the BJP in the 2026 Bengal elections."

Probe panel told to submit report within 7 days: CM

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Panaji

GOA CM Pramod Sawant on Monday said four people were arrested in connection with the fire at a nightclub in Goa that claimed 25 lives. One person was detained from Delhi.

Sawant said that a magisterial inquiry has been initiated into the incident. The tragedy took place at Birch By Romeo Lane in Arpora village —around 25 km from the state capital, Panaji. "The probe will be led by the North Goa Collector, with support from a committee comprising the SP of South Goa, Deputy Collector for Fire and Emergency Services, and the Director of Forensics. The panel has been instructed to submit its report within seven days," the CM said.

A recent inspection by a government authority documented alleged violations of the CRZ Notification 2011 in the nightclub that included the construction of an RCC G+1 hexagonal structure of approximately 550 sqm erected directly on a water body, with the ground floor used as a kitchen and storeroom. He said that four people have been arrested and inquiry is in progress.

"An arrest warrant has been issued against the club owners." However, they have reportedly fled to Thailand. Sawant also announced an ex-gratia of ₹5 lakh to the next of kin of the deceased and ₹50,000 for the injured, to be sanctioned through the State Disaster Response Fund (SDRF). The CM said that the DGP has been directed to take strict punitive action against the culprits, including the owners and managers of the club and those who issued permissions to the club. An audit would be conducted of all the clubs and business establishments that are operating without the valid permissions and where there is likelihood of gatherings.

"This would be done through a committee to be constituted under the chairmanship of the Secretary (Revenue). A standard operating procedure shall be framed for all such establishments to prevent such incidents in future," he added.

Originally from Nepal, Kanpur chef among dead

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

ROHAN (28), a resident of Kalyanpur in Kanpur, was a chef at the night club in Goa where 25 people died in a blaze and he figured among the deceased. He was appointed as the chef at the nightclub barely 18 months ago. Rohan's brother confirmed that the family had left for Goa to bring back his mortal remains.

According to sources, Rohan, basically a native of Nepal, used to live with his maternal uncle Kunwar Sigh in Barasirohi locality of Kalyanpur area of Kanpur and had gone to Goa around a year and a half ago for a job in night club.

As per Kunwar Singh, his nephew had worked in different restaurants of Kanpur. As one of his acquaintances told him about a job of chef in Goa on a better salary, Rohan went there in February 2024. Singh said that one of his sons Vijay worked in Mumbai and the Goa police contacted him after the fire incident in the night club. On getting the news of his death, the entire family has left for Goa to bring Rohan's body back to Kanpur.

Meanwhile, Rohan's mother Sunita Singh has left for Kanpur from Nepal. Additional Commissioner of Police Kapil Dev Singh confirmed the accidental death of Rohan. The deceased's brother Ajay said, "They were together since childhood, the sudden news has shattered everyone." As soon as the information was received, there was an uproar in the house, and family members left to bring the body back to Kanpur.

Maternal uncle Kunwar Lal Singh said Rohan was very fond of cooking alongside his studies and started working as a chef after Class X. He worked in several establishments, including Eliz Cafe in Kanpur, later moved to Gwalior, and then to Goa in February 2024 for better income. "After the accident, when Goa police called, hum sab log ko gehra dhakka laga (we were shocked)," he added. The incident has sparked a nationwide outrage and added to the push for tougher norms.

No jobs in state, 3 from Assam took up nightclub duty

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

AMONG the 25 people who lost their lives in the Goa fire incident on Saturday, three were from Assam. The three victims have been identified as Rahul Tanti, Manojit Mal (both from Cachar district) and Diganta Patir (from Dhemaji district) who were employed at the Arpora nightclub.

Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma took to social media platform X and said, "Deeply anguished by the tragic loss of lives in the Arpora fire incident, where three of our own lost their precious lives. Offering my heartfelt condolences to the bereaved families. Praying for the recovery of those injured."

The families of Mal and Tanti said that their children were forced to go outside due to an alleged lack of livelihood opportunities in Assam. Patir's mother said he went to Goa last year. "He would always call me to enquire about our well-being," said the woman who stays at home along with her daughter. Her another son, who is employed in Kerala, reached Goa on Monday. Neighbours have appealed to the Assam government to bring the mortal remains of the victims to the state.

The family is not in a financial position to bring the body. We are relying on the government. It has a scheme. We are appealing to the CM to bring the body," a neighbour said. In October this year, the state government had launched the "Shraddhanjali" scheme to provide complete assistance for dignified transportation of the mortal remains of people from Assam who have lost their lives anywhere outside the state. The scheme, approved by the state cabinet on June 22, will be implemented by the Special Branch of the Assam Police. Families or individuals seeking assistance can report such death cases through designated helpline numbers. "The Assam government will ensure logistical support to bring back the bodies of the deceased for the final rites," Sarma said.

Monk returns for SIR documents after 36 yrs

A monk, who returned to his parental place after 36 years, was forced to seek police assistance when his family refused to recognise him and withheld his documents when he returned to Dharamangadpur village in the Sajeti police station area of Kanpur to collect papers needed for the SIR exercise. Sajeti police station officers intervened and, having verified his identity through the documents he carried, permitted him to take his marksheet and related records. Monk Sarvesh Sachan, known as Kallu, son of Indrapal, had left home in 1989 after graduating from DAV College in Kanpur and lived as a monk at Tauni Devi Dham.

State's milestone in renewable energy

Marking a historic achievement in renewable energy journey, UP has surpassed the milestone of 3,00,000 solar installations rising to number three position after Gujarat and Maharashtra. Of the 9,83,915 applications, 3,00,654 installations were completed, bringing the state's total solar capacity to 1,038.27 MW delivering clean, affordable energy. Key initiatives like the PM Surya Ghar Yojana and the state's new solar policy established robust infrastructure, ensuring transparent processes, digital monitoring and timely installations taking the state ahead of path of economic transformation. The existing capacity creates opportunities.

Stall No. 26 in Kashi a big draw for visitors

Stall No. 26 at Namo Ghat in Varanasi is drawing visitors in hordes as it features IIT Madras's innovation-based education initiative 'Vidyashakti' based on the theme 'Tamil Karkalam (Learn Tamil)' at the ongoing Kashi-Tamil Sangamam 4.0 exhibition. The initiative is giving a new dimension to Tamil language learning by integrating digital tools. In line with the event theme, the model demonstrates how a language can be made simple, engaging, and accessible through simulations, gaming, quizzes, and interactive digital content. Launched in 2021, Vidyashakti has been making STEM learning interesting in 10 UP districts.

Yogi calls for alert against illegal migrants

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

UTTAR Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath on Monday urged people to remain alert and ensure proper verification of individuals before hiring them for a job at home or commercial establishments.

Notably, his comes amid the state's campaign to identify Bangladeshis and Rohingya residing and working illegally in the state, along with the setting up of detention camps. The UP government had launched an extensive drive recently, seeking details of Bangladeshis and Rohingyas working as sanitation workers, domestic workers, helpers at shops, etc.

The CM stressed that illegal immigrants should not be given protection at any cost. He took to X on Monday and emphasised that ensuring security, social harmony and robust law and order in the state were his government's top priorities. He also noted that people residing illegally in the state had the first right on government resources, and not illegal immigrants. The CM shared a letter with a reference to a recent Supreme Court observation and reiterated his position: "This makes it clear that infiltrators are not acceptable."

4 killed while saving Raj couple injured in accident; 10 others get hurt in crash

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

CHAIN OF EVENTS

1. A bike-borne couple were hit by an unidentified car coming from wrong side
2. A speeding minivan en route from Chittorgarh to Kota hit the people helping the couple
3. Just moments later, another car slammed into the minivan from behind, causing it to overturn

FOUR young men were killed and seven others were injured on the Kota-Chittorgarh highway on Sunday night after a tragic chain of accidents, police said on Monday.

According to the police, it all began when a couple, Shambhulal and Kali Bai, riding a motorcycle on Sunday night were hit by an unidentified car coming from the wrong side near Madna in the Begun area of Chittorgarh. After knocking the couple off their two-wheeler, the car slammed into another vehicle. Locals from a nearby dhaba and the occupants of another car rushed to the aid of the injured couple right after the crash. While they were gathered to help the duo, a speeding minivan en route from Chittorgarh to Kota rammed into them. Moments later, a car coming from behind collided with the minivan, causing it to overturn.

Two people—Hemraj Gurjar (35) and Rajesh Meena (29)—died on the spot, while Phorulal Gurjar (33) and Sonu Gurjar (40) succumbed to their injuries during treatment. All four had stepped in to help the injured couple, police said. Ten others hurt in the incident are undergoing treatment.

The bodies of the deceased were sent for a post-mortem examination at the Begun Sub-District Hospital mortuary. Police have nabbed the driver of the car coming from the wrong side and the one behind the wheel of the minivan. A detailed investigation into the incident is under way. SHO Shivlal Meena stated that the vehicles involved in the chain of events have been seized.

5 IAS officers as special roll observers for SIR in Bengal

SUBHENDU MAITI @ Kolkata

THE Election Commission of India (EC) on Monday appointed five more IAS officers as Special Roll Observers (SROs) to intensify the second phase of the ongoing Special Intensive Revision (SIR) exercise in West Bengal. The second phase of the three-tier SIR process begins after the draft roll is published on December 16.

Neeraj Kumar Bansor (Home Affairs), Kumar Ravikant Singh (Defence), Alok Tiwari (Finance), Pankaj Yadav (Rural Development) and Krishna Kumar Nirala (Information and Broadcasting) in the rank of joint secretaries will look after SIR drive in five divisions: Midnapore, Presidency, Malda, Jalpaiguri and Bardhaman. They will work as micro-observers.

About 10 days ago, the national poll body had engaged Dr Subrata Gupta, retired IAS and former secretary of the union food processing ministry, as the SRO and 12 others serving IAS officers of Bengal cadre for the SIR in the state. All the SROs and 12 others IAS officers will work in coordination with the West Bengal Chief Electoral Officer (CEO) Manoj Agarwal in Kolkata.

According to the EC sources, the additional team of SROs has been engaged to ensure that no genuine voter is deleted from the list and at the same time no dead, duplicate, absent and permanently shifted voter is included to the SIR list. This stage involves the filing of claims and objections, along with the notice period for issuing, hearing, verifying and disposing of applications, all of which will be carried out simultaneously by the Electoral Registration Officers (EROs).

On Monday, Dr Gupta, along with 12 other IAS officers, assigned earlier by the Commission met CEC Gyanesh Kumar at EC office in Delhi and updated him about the progress of the SIR in the state.

"Almost all opposition parties have asked for micro observers to ensure there is no manipulation at this stage," sources in the CEO's office said, adding that the Commission had "found merit" in these concerns.

On the completion of second stage, the final version of the electoral roll will be published on February 14. The announcement of dates for the West Bengal Assembly elections is expected shortly afterwards.

Sources in the ECI said that around 55 lakh dead, duplicate, permanently shifted and absent voters were deleted till Saturday.

Meant to ensure that genuine voters remain

The additional team of SROs has been engaged to ensure that no genuine voter is deleted from the list and at the same time no dead, duplicate, absent and permanently shifted voter is included to the SIR list. This stage involves the filing of claims and objections, along with the notice period for issuing, hearing, verifying and disposing of applications, all of which will be carried out by the EROs.

WAR ON MAOISTS

Leader, among 12 Maoists, lay down arms in C'garh

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

RENOUNCING the ideology of the CPI (Maoist) a total of 12 cadres surrendered with their weapons in Rajnandgaon district, around 100 km west of Raipur, in the early hours of Monday. Among those who laid down arms was a senior Maoist leader of the Maharashtra–Madhya Pradesh–Chhattisgarh (MMC) zone and central committee member, Ramdher Majji, who carried a bounty of ₹1 crore on his head. Four divisional committee members and several other cadres have also surrendered.

The surrender of these senior figures, led by the central committee member, is being viewed as a major setback for the MMC unit of the banned CPI (Maoist).

Six of the 12 cadres are women, who, according to a police officer, were evidently encouraged by the state government's lucrative surrender and rehabilitation policy.

The cadres handed over an AK-47 rifle, an INSAS assault rifle, a self-loading rifle (SLR), a 303 rifle, and other weapons. Official said that legal procedures will follow to ensure their rehabilitation and reintegration into society.

33 surrenders in 10 days; Naxal nos. in single digit

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

A total of 33 surrenders in 10 days have shrunk the number of armed naxal cadres to single digits perhaps for the first time in more than three decades in the Maharashtra-Madhya Pradesh-Chhattisgarh (MMC) Special Zone.

Around 40-45 armed naxal cadres active as members of armed Dalams were active in two parts of the MMC Zone. Three Dalams, including Khatiya Mocha, Bhoramdev and Borla formed the Kanha-Bhoramdev Division was active in the northern MMC Zone, which covered Balaghat and Mandla districts of MP and the neighbouring Kabirdham district of Chhattisgarh.

Two Dalams – Malajkhand (including the defunct Tanda Dalam cadres) and Darre Khasa – formed the Gondia-Rajnandgaon-Balaghat (GRB) division, which was the larger umbrella under which the Naxal cadres armed with AK-47s, INSAS assault rifles and Under Barrel Grenade Launchers (UBGL) remained active in the southern MMC Zone. The series of bulk surrenders of the outlaws active in the MMC Zone – the dense forests on the tri-section of the three neighbouring states—started on November 28, when 11 Darre Khasa Dalam cadres surrendered in Gondia (Maharashtra).

Congress suspends Sidhu's wife after controversy over ₹500 cr remarks

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

AFTER a political backlash erupted over her "Rs 500 crore for chief minister's chair" remark, Congress leader Navjot Kaur Sidhu, wife of former cricketer and Punjab Congress president Navjot Singh Sidhu, has been suspended from the primary membership of the party with immediate effect.

The decision was taken by Punjab Congress president Amarinder Singh Raja Warring days after she claimed that it costs Rs 500 crore to become chief minister of Punjab. She had also criticised her party colleagues when she made this statement. Her suspension order read: "Dr Navjot Kaur Sidhu is, hereby, suspended from the primary membership of the party with immediate effect."

Punjab Assembly agreed with Warring's decision. "It is the right decision taken at the right time. You cannot make such baseless allegations," he said, adding that she did not wish well for the party.

Bajwa hinted that the BJP could be behind her utterances as she had met Punjab governor Gulab Chand Kataria and made those statements while coming out of Raj Bhawan.

Navjot Kaur, however, tried to do damage control. She wrote on X: "I am shocked to see the twist given to a straight comment saying that our Congress party has never demanded anything from us. On being asked about Navjot becoming a CM face from any other party, I stated that we have no money to offer for a CM post."

However, many top leaders of the party were critical of her. Gurdaspur MP and former deputy Chief Minister Sukhjinder Singh Randhawa criticised Navjot Kaur. He asked in sarcasm that since her husband was made a minister and president of the Punjab Congress, was there a deal? "I want to ask him how much money he gave for it and to whom?" he said. Randhawa added that levelling allegations when Navjot Singh had served as party president was an anti-party act and the high command should note it.

MH370: AIRLINE TOLD TO PAY COMPENSATION

A Beijing court said on Monday it had ordered Malaysia Airlines to pay compensation to the families of eight passengers from flight MH370, more than a decade after the plane disappeared. The Chaoyang District People's Court said 47 other lawsuits had been withdrawn, after the families settled outside of court with Malaysia Airlines.

Four civilians among five killed as Thailand-Cambodia clashes reignite

Both countries trade blame for fresh fighting; tens of thousands evacuated from border areas

BANGKOK

THAILAND launched air strikes on Monday on its neighbour Cambodia, with both sides trading blame for renewed fighting on their disputed border that has killed four Cambodian civilians and a Thai soldier.

Another brief episode of fighting took place along the border Sunday, after which both sides said the other fired first. The Thai army said Cambodian fire injured two Thai soldiers, and Thai troops retaliated, resulting in an exchange of fire that lasted around 20 minutes. Cambodia said that the Thai side fired first and that its own troops did not retaliate.

Around 35,000 people in Thailand have been evacuated from border areas, the country's Second Army Region said.

Five days of combat between Thailand and Cambodia this summer killed 43 people and displaced around 3,00,000 on both sides of the border before a truce took effect. But last month Thailand paused a follow-on deal backed by US President Donald Trump to wind down hostilities, saying a landmine blast at the border had wounded several soldiers. Since then, Cambodian and Thai officials have reported sporadic skirmishes along their frontier, which reignited Sunday and Monday.

Cambodia's information minister Neth Pheaktra told AFP that at least four Cambodian civilians were killed by Thai shelling on Monday in the border provinces of Preah Vihear and Oddar Meanchey.

Around 10 other civilians were wounded, including a Cambodian journalist who was hit by shrapnel from a Thai rocket, Neth Pheaktra said. The Thai army said one soldier was killed and 18 others were wounded since fresh fighting began on Sunday.

Farmer Pannarat Woratham, who lives just a few kilometres from the border in Thailand's Surin province, said she fled Sunday afternoon to a temple sheltering the displaced.

It was the second time the 59-year-old had evacuated since late July when open combat was waged with fighter jets, missile strikes and ground troops, killing both civilians and soldiers. "Of course many of us thought the conflict was finally over. It shouldn't have happened again like this," Pannarat told AFP. On the other side of the border, Cambodian Hul Malis said the Thai military entered the border village of Prey Chan, in northwestern Banteay Meanchey province, on Monday afternoon just 20 minutes after she fled.

"They came in with tanks," Hul Malis said other residents told her. "I am so scared and I am running away" to the provincial capital, she added.

Prey Chan was the site of a stand-off in September between several hundred Cambodian demonstrators and Thai forces who fired rubber bullets and tear gas at them. AFP

EARTHQUAKE

Tsunami waves lash Japan's coast, N-plant under the lens

TOKYO

A powerful 7.6-magnitude earthquake struck late Monday off northern Japan, triggering a tsunami of up to 70 centimetres in Pacific coast communities and warnings of potentially higher surges, the Japanese Meteorological Agency said.

The quake struck at about 11.15 pm in the Pacific Ocean about 80 kilometres off the coast of Aomori, the northernmost prefecture of Japan's main Honshu island, the agency said. A tsunami of 70 centimeters was measured in Kuji port in Iwate prefecture, just south of Aomori, and tsunami levels of up to 50 centimeters struck other coastal communities in the region, the agency said.

The agency issued an alert for potential tsunami surges of up to 3 metres in some areas, and Chief Cabinet Secretary Minoru Kihara urged residents to immediately head to higher ground or take shelter inside buildings or evacuation centers until the alert is lifted.

Several people were injured at a hotel in the Aomori town of Hachinohe and a man in the town of Tohoku was slightly hurt when his car fell into a hole, public broadcaster NHK reported.

Kihara said nuclear power plants in the region were conducting safety checks and that so far no problems were detected.

Prime Minister Sanae Takaichi, in brief comment to reporters, said the government set up an emergency task force to urgently assess the extent of damage. Several cases of fires were reported in Aomori, and about 90,000 residents were advised to take shelter at evacuation centers, the Fire and Disaster Management Agency said.

Satoshi Kato, a vice principal of a public high school in Hachinohe, told NHK that he was at home when the quake struck, and that glasses and bowls fell and smashed into shards on the floor. AP

Khaleda Zia's UK evacuation faces fresh delay

Dhaka: Plans to airlift Bangladesh's ailing former prime minister Khaleda Zia to London for advanced treatment suffered a fresh setback on Monday after the German air ambulance hired for her travel sought cancellation of its approved Tuesday's landing slot in Dhaka, officials said. The Civil Aviation Authority of Bangladesh (CAAB) on Sunday cleared the aircraft, arranged by the Qatar government, to land at Hazrat Shahjalal International Airport on Tuesday following its request. However, the operator, Germany-based FAI Aviation Group, on Monday requested that the slot be withdrawn, news portal bdnews24.com reported, quoting a senior airport official. "No revised application has been received so far," the official said. CAAB sources confirmed that FAI Aviation Group formally approached authorities through a coordinating agency to cancel its earlier slot request, tbsnews.net reported. Zia has been undergoing treatment at Dhaka's Evercare Hospital since November 23 for multiple ailments.

India's resolution on wildfires gains traction at UNEA-7

SV KRISHNA CHAITANYA @ Nairobi

A draft resolution on strengthening the global response to wildfires, one of the 15 key texts being negotiated at the seventh UN Environment Assembly (UNEA-7), opened to broad support on Monday, even as delegations signalled early fault lines around finance and the framing of wildfire risk within climate and biodiversity strategies.

The resolution, led by India and backed by a wide cross-regional group, seeks to anchor international cooperation on wildfire prevention, preparedness, and ecological recovery at a time when extreme fire events are rising across continents.

UN Environment Programme and Grid-Arendal jointly produced a report, "Spreading Like Wildfire: The Rising Threat of Extraordinary Landscape Fires", which projects fires could increase by up to 50% by the end of the century, with profound implications for biodiversity, air quality, climate mitigation, and public health. The resolution draws from this science and responds to calls for a coordinated, "fire-ready" global framework.

India called for collective action while insisting that decisions remain rooted in equity, common but differentiated responsibilities, and full respect for national circumstances. The intervention set the tone for negotiations, where several countries expressed unease with prescriptive language that would require integrating wildfire risk reduction into national climate plans or biodiversity strategies. Despite these concerns, the draft enjoys wide consensus on the need for strengthened early warning systems, community-centred fire management, regional cooperation on transboundary smoke and fire events, and recognition of Indigenous Peoples' knowledge in landscape stewardship. The proposal to mandate UNEP to develop a Global Framework for Forest Fire Management was particularly well received.

However, finance remains a heavily bracketed section of the wildfire resolution, with negotiators working through multiple options for how UNEA should reference international support, sources told TNIE.

Zelenskyy says more work needed to end war

LAGOS: Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy on Monday hailed "important steps" after talks in Geneva with the US, but said more work is needed to negotiate an end to the war with Russia. Ukrainian, American and European officials met in Switzerland Sunday after a US proposal to end Russia's almost four-year invasion was widely criticised as heeding to Moscow's demands. All sides claimed progress negotiations in Geneva, with a joint statement calling them "constructive." EU leaders are expected to hold emergency Ukraine talks on the sidelines of a summit in Angola later on Monday. "In the steps we have coordinated with the side of the US, we've managed to keep extremely sensitive points," Zelenskyy told a conference in Sweden, speaking via video link. These included "the full release of all Ukrainian prisoners of war under the all-for-all formula and civilians, and the complete return of Ukrainian children abducted by Russia." Kyiv has throughout the war said Russia had illegally taken Ukrainian children from occupied territories into Russia, seeking their return. "These are important steps, but to achieve real peace, more, more is needed," Zelenskyy said. He said Ukraine stands at a "critical moment" and vowed to look for "compromises that strengthen but not weaken us." AFP

IndiGo faces big revenue losses due to refunds

Airline says ₹827 cr has been disbursed against cancellations; remaining amount to be transfered by December 15

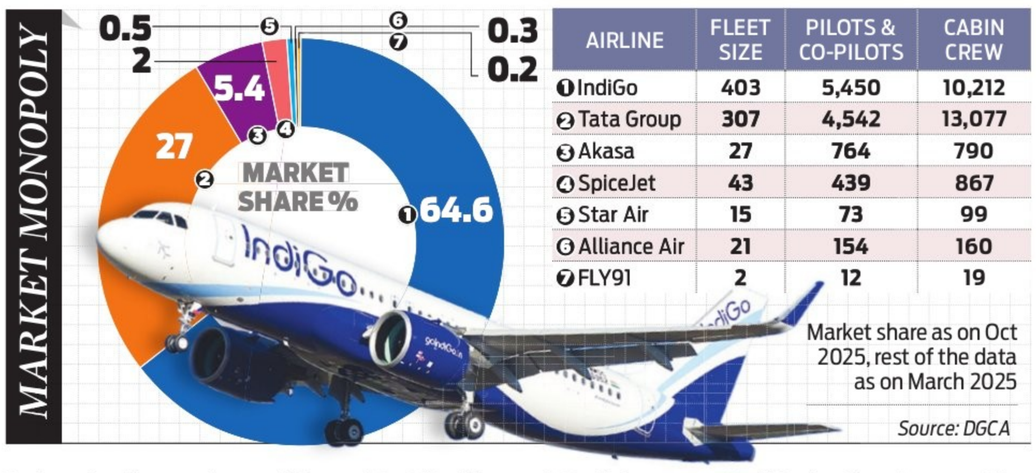
ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

CRISIS-hit IndiGo will face significant financial damage from loss of revenue due to flight cancellations, refunds and other compensation, said global ratings firm Moody on Monday, while highlighting that disruptions are credit negative for the country's largest airline.

IndiGo cancelled nearly 5,000 flights since last Tuesday due to a severe crew shortage, following revised Flight Duty Time Limitations norms introduced last month. These cancellations stranded thousands of passengers.

"Recent flight disruptions underscore significant lapses in planning, oversight and resource management by IndiGo because the new regulations had been known to the industry for more than a year. The airline's lean operations, which provide cost efficiencies in stable times, lacked the resilience needed for this change in regulations, leading to the need for a system-wide reboot that led to the cancellation of around 1,600 flights on December 5," said Moody in a statement.

Aviation regulator DGCA has issued IndiGo a show-cause notice, with possible stern action looming over the airline for the widespread disruption. The ministry of civil aviation (MoCA) directed IndiGo to process all customer refunds by December 7 without any levies. IndiGo said on Monday that ₹827 crore has already been refunded, and the rest is under process for cancellations up to December 15. It added that over 1,800 flights will be operated on Monday, nearly 400-450 fewer than the usual daily number.



AIRLINE	FLEET SIZE	PILOTS & CO-PILOTS	CABIN CREW
1 IndiGo	403	5,450	10,212
2 Tata Group	307	4,542	13,077
3 Akasa	27	764	790
4 SpiceJet	43	439	867
5 Star Air	15	73	99
6 Alliance Air	21	154	160

IndiGo is already grappling with weakening rupee, and the recent flight disruptions will add further pressure on the country's only profitable airline. InterGlobe Aviation, IndiGo's parent company, reported a net loss of ₹2,582 crore in Q2FY26 due to adverse currency movements.

Investors are now reassessing IndiGo's long-term growth amid concerns over its near-term outlook. Its share price crashed nearly 9% on Monday to close at ₹4,907.50 apiece on the NSE.

Global brokerage Investec maintained its 'Sell' rating on the stock with a price target of ₹4,040, warning that hopes of a strong third-quarter recovery are diminishing after a weak first half of FY26. It stated that costs are rising sharply for the airline, with ATF prices up 6% quarter-on-quarter and the rupee sliding to 90 per dollar. The subsequent wave of flight cancellations has further eroded expectations of an earnings rebound. With IndiGo required to fully comply with the updated norms by February 10, 2026, it may need about 20% more pilots per aircraft, a shift that could raise costs by ₹0.10 per available seat kilometres (ASK) and, without fare hikes, potentially shave off nearly 25% of PBT, stated Investec.

Starlink data plan at ₹8,600/month; kit to cost ₹34,000

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

ELON Musk-led satellite communication service provider Starlink is set to launch its services in India at a significantly higher price compared to neighbouring countries. The company has announced that its residential plan in India will cost ₹8,600 per month, while the Starlink hardware kit will be priced at ₹34,000 as a one-time purchase, according to the updated Starlink India website. The customers will receive unlimited data and a 30-day trial period to test the service before committing.

In India, which is known for having some of the world's lowest mobile data and broadband rates, the pricing is a bit higher. For instance, most domestic internet service providers such as Reliance Jio, Bharti Airtel, and Vodafone Idea charge a one-time installation fee of around ₹1,500 to ₹2,000, and monthly broadband plans typically range from ₹699 to ₹999, offering unlimited high-speed internet.

While Starlink is preparing to begin commercial operations in India, it is already active in neighbouring countries such as Bangladesh and Bhutan. In May 2025, Starlink launched services in Bangladesh with two primary plans. The Residential Lite Plan is priced at around BDT 4,200 per month (₹3,000-₹3,150) and offers unlimited deprioritised data for smaller households with lower usage. The Standard residential plan costs BDT 6,000 per month (₹4,000-₹4,500) and provides unlimited data for regular home usage. Customers in Bangladesh also pay a one-time hardware fee of BDT 47,000 (₹33,000-₹39,000).

Cheaper data plans in Bangladesh, Bhutan

While Starlink is preparing to begin commercial operations in India, it is already active in neighbouring countries such as Bangladesh and Bhutan. In May 2025, Starlink launched services in Bangladesh with two primary plans. The Residential Lite Plan is priced at around BDT 4,200 per month (`3,000-`3,150).

In Bhutan, Starlink offers similar services with additional options. The Residential Lite Plan is priced at BTN 3,000 per month (₹3,000), providing speeds from 23 Mbps to 100 Mbps. The Standard Residential Plan costs BTN 4,200 per month (₹4,200) and delivers speeds between 25 Mbps and 110 Mbps, along with unlimited data. The equipment cost in Bhutan remains substantial, with the standard Starlink kit priced at BTN 33,000 plus shipping.

Other satellite broadband service providers that have received licences from India's Department of Telecommunications to operate in the country include Eutelsat's OneWeb and Reliance Jio.

SEBI paves way for accredited investor AIFs

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) on Monday paved the way for accredited investors-only Alternative Investment Funds (AIFs) for accredited investors and extending regulatory relaxations to large value funds (LVFs).

Accredited investors are investors who have an understanding of various financial products and the risks-returns associated with them, and therefore, are able to take informed decisions regarding their investments. They are typically large investors with income of ₹2 crore or more or have a net worth of ₹7.5 crore.

The Sebi said a separate category of AIF schemes, limited exclusively to Accredited Investors, will benefit from scheme-specific regulatory flexibility, including less compliance around investor protection. LVFs for accredited investors are now granted additional relaxations and operational flexibilities. LVFs are those where minimum commitment required from each investor is ₹25 crore. LVFs are now exempt from after the standard template for the Private Placement Memorandum (PPM) and the requirement for an annual audit of the terms of the PPM. This exemption applies without the need for obtaining specific waivers from investors.

Smallcap stocks reel under selling pressure

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

Smallcap index falls 5% in past five sessions

In the past five sessions, the smallcap index has declined nearly 5% and year-to-date it has fallen more than 9%. In contrast, the midcap pack is up 4% year-to-date, while Nifty50 has rallied nearly 10% in 2025 so far, indicating a growing preference for large and stable bluechips.

SELLING pressure has intensified in the small-cap segment as frontline indices like BSE Sensex and NSE Nifty pause their recent bull run. On Monday, the Nifty Smallcap 100 index saw such heavy selling that only three out of its 100 stocks closed in green.

On Monday, the Nifty Smallcap 100 index fell 2.6% compared to 1.8% decline in the Nifty Midcap 100 index and 0.9% decline in the benchmark Nifty50 index. Experts say the fall in small-cap stocks to stretched valuations post a 4-year rally, domestic investors and FII outflows favoring large caps, and liquidity squeezes from record IPOs and lock-in expiries.

In the past five sessions, the smallcap index has declined nearly 5% and year-to-date it has fallen more than 9%. In contrast, the midcap pack is up 4% year-to-date, while Nifty50 has rallied nearly 10% in 2025 so far, indicating a growing preference for large and stable bluechips. The Nifty Smallcap 100 index closed 2.61% lower at 17,051.65 on Monday.

Kaynes Technologies, Tata Teleservice, Data Patterns, and Reliance Power were the top losers in the small-cap index, tumbling 12.55%, 7.10%, 6.47%, and 6.05%, respectively. Shares of Neuland Laboratories, Railtel, Poonawalla Fincorp, and Aditya Birla Real Estate plummeted between 5%-6% each.

Indian benchmark indices concluded the Monday session with significant losses, as the Sensex tumbled over 610 points to close at 85,103 (-0.7%) and the Nifty50 shed 226 points to settle at 25,961 (-0.9%). Sectorally, all indices ended in the red, with Nifty Realty (-3.5%) and Nifty PSU Bank (-2.8%) emerging as the top losers.

Siddhartha Khemka, Head of Research, Wealth Management, Motilal Oswal Financial Services, said the market-wide sell-off was driven by cautious sentiment ahead of the US Federal Reserve's rate decision, continuous FII selling, and widespread profit booking across the broader market.

Ajit Mishra, SVP, Research, Religare Broking, said that sentiment weakened primarily due to rising caution ahead of the upcoming Fed meeting.

India, EU hold 14th round of trade discussion in Delhi

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

UNION Commerce Minister Piyush Goyal and Union External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar on Monday held meetings with European Trade and Economic Security Commissioner Maros Sefcovic here. The team of the EU was in the city to proceed with the discussions on Free Trade Agreement (FTA) with India.

"We discussed the progress on the India-EU FTA and explored ways to resolve the issues to further advance the negotiations. Looking forward to continued cooperation towards a mutually beneficial India-EU FTA," Goyal said in a post on X.

The EU team is in India for two days for the discussions. So far, there have been 14 rounds of negotiation talks between the two sides. Both the sides aimed to conclude the FTA discussions by year-end.

EU's Carbon Border Adjustment Mechanism (CBAM), which comes into effect from January 1, has always been a point of contention between two countries and India has always raised concerns over it. With the implementation of CBAM, Indian exporters of steel, aluminium, and other carbon-intensive goods can face heavy taxes for carbon footprint.

India's bilateral trade with the EU stood at $137 billion in 2024-25 making it the largest merchandise trading partner. India is the EU's ninth largest trading partner, accounting for 2.4% of the EU's total trade in goods in 2024.

Tobacco levy a compliance nightmare: Experts

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

WITH the new levies — Central Excise duty and the Health Security Se National Security Cess — on tobacco products and Pan Masala, manufacturers should be prepared for greater scrutiny along with an additional compliance burden, experts cautioned. Also, the government will need to enhance the system's capacity to manage the renewed complexity that could arise from implementing these two new levies.

"The Centre is signalling tighter regulatory oversight and a more formula-driven revenue model. Manufacturers can expect deeper scrutiny of pricing, production patterns, and reporting practices as compliance becomes more data-intensive. The shift to a retail sale price (RSP)-based GST system further elevates the significance of accurate price declarations," said Manoj Mishra, Partner and Tax Controversy Management Leader, Grant Thornton Bharat.

The Centre is signalling tighter regulatory oversight. Manufacturers can expect deeper scrutiny of pricing, production patterns, reporting practices — Manoj Mishra, Partner, Grant Thornton Bharat

Experts highlighted that the Health Security Cess is likely to trigger significant litigation because it attempts to shift the tax base from actual production to a capacity-linked levy on machines.

"The wide powers of inspection, search, seizure, and arrest may also lead to possible overreach. Further, the overlap between this cess and existing GST provisions — especially in relation to valuation, assessment timelines, penalties, and appeals — could create dual compliance burdens and ambiguities," explained Abhishek A. Rastogi, tax expert and founder of Rastogi Chambers.

However, experts also noted that its implementation will be equally challenging for the government. Mishra said the revised excise structure could reopen old classification and valuation disputes, especially around the interpretation of tobacco sub-categories and the use of transaction value, RSP or deemed MRP for duty calculation. Any lack of clarity during transition may quickly lead to litigation. Thus, he said, the government needs to ensure greater precision in definitions, valuation rules, and transition timelines. Industry players may also challenge the potential for arbitrary classification of "specified goods".

Parliament recently passed the Central Excise (Amendment) Bill to levy excise duty on tobacco products such as cigarettes, cigars, hookah tobacco, chewing tobacco, zarda and scented tobacco.

TRAI sticks to its fee plan for satellite waves, rejects DoT recommendation

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THE Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI) has refused to modify its earlier recommendation on satellite communication spectrum charges, maintaining its proposal of 4% of Adjusted Gross Revenue (AGR) plus ₹500 per urban subscriber per year, with rural and remote users exempted. The decision comes despite an alternative proposal from the Department of Telecommunications (DoT).

It had suggested a flat 5% AGR charge, with a 1% discount for operators connecting at least 5% of users in "hard-to-connect" areas such as border regions, hilly districts, and islands. The DoT also proposed removing the ₹500 per urban subscriber charge, arguing that distinguishing urban and rural subscribers could be challenging.

The TRAI, however, disagreed, providing detailed justifications. It emphasised that both Geostationary Orbit (GSO) and Non-Geostationary Orbit (NGSO) satellite operators should pay the same 4% AGR to maintain a level playing field.

Raising NGSO charges to 5% could discourage new operators such as Starlink, OneWeb, and Amazon Kuiper from investing in India.

The regulator also highlighted the advantages of NGSO systems over traditional GSO satellites, including lower latency, flexible beam steering, wider coverage, and higher service reliability. The additional ₹500 per urban subscriber fee, TRAI argued, is reasonable, ensures fair compensation for spectrum use, and discourages operators from focusing solely on profitable metropolitan markets.

TRAI sent its response to DoT's back-reference dated November 12, 2025, regarding its recommendations of May 9 on "Terms and Conditions for the Assignment of Spectrum for Certain Satellite-Based Commercial Communication Services." DoT had proposed that operators wanting to surrender spectrum early must apply 60 days in advance, subject to government approval in the public, national, or security interest. If approved, operators must inform subscribers 30 days prior. TRAI also agreed to an additional 30-day grace period for rollout, in line with the Draft Telecom Rules under the Act.

L&T consolidates its realty business

New Delhi: In a move to consolidate its realty business, the Board of Directors of L&T has approved the transfer of its Realty Business Undertaking (Realty BU) to L&T Realty Properties Ltd (L&T Realty) through a slump-sale. It said in a statement that the move marks the beginning of a phased consolidation of all real estate assets and undertakings of L&T and vest them in L&T Realty. ENS

ICICI Bank to buy 2% more stake in AMC arm

New Delhi: ICICI Bank on Monday said it will acquire 2% additional stake in the ICICI Prudential Asset Manage-ment Company Ltd from Pruden-tial Corporation Holdings Limited (PCHL) for `2,140 crore. The moti-vation is that ICICI intends to maintain its majority sharehol-ding in AMC. This is a proactive step to offset potential dilution that could occur if ICICI AMC grants stock-based compensation to its staff. ENS

Virat Kohli sells one8 to Agilitas Sports, to acquire minority stake for ₹40 crore

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIAN cricketer Virat Kohli is selling his sportswear brand one8 to Agilitas Sports, the vertically integrated manufacturing-to-retail sports platform founded by Abhishek Ganguly. As part of the transaction, Virat Kohli joins Agilitas as an investor and co-founder of one8. Kohli will invest ₹40 crore in Agilitas to acquire a minority stake in the company.

Agilitas operates across manufacturing, R&D, brand-building, and retail distribution. In 2023, the company acquired Mochiko Shoes, India's largest sports footwear manufacturer, significantly strengthening its domestic and export capabilities.

one8 is a sportswear brand co-created by Virat Kohli. The brand spans sportswear, apparel, footwear and accessories, blending on-field functionality with off-field style.

According to a statement by Agilitas, the collaboration between Virat and Abhishek grew organically over the years, driven by mutual respect, shared discipline, and a deep-rooted connection to sport. "What began as informal conversations around building something original soon evolved into the creation of one8," it said.

Virat Kohli's decision to bring one8 home to Agilitas is rooted in strategic alignment and long-term brand vision. The company further said that while Virat had the option to invest only in one8, he chose to instead become a shareholder in Agilitas, the holding group company, after witnessing its vertically integrated capabilities across manufacturing, design, R&D and nationwide distribution.

Virat Kohli said: "My relationship with Abhishek grew very naturally, it was never forced. One day, while casually talking about my desire to build something of my own, he simply said, 'Let's go for it,' and that's how one8 began. Sport has shaped my entire life. Movement, comfort, and performance define everything for me, and that philosophy naturally translated into the brand. I always wanted a sports-first approach to style - where functionality, comfort and identity come together."

My relationship with Abhishek grew very naturally, it was never forced. One day, while casually talking about my desire to build something of my own, he simply said, 'Let's go for it,' and that's how one8 began — Virat Kohli

JioStar look to revisit ICC media deal: Reports

Days after this daily had reported that the International Cricket Council has warned members of a 30 per cent dip in media rights revenue for the upcoming cycle post 2027, there have been reports that JioStar is looking to exit the initial four-year deal. According to an Economic Times report, this move comes due to significant financial losses.

All eyes on Shubman as India's World Cup countdown begins

Gill making a comeback to the team after neck spasm ruled him out of the two Tests and three ODIs; hosts will play 10 matches before the global event

TANMAY DAS @Cuttack

AS India take the field in Cuttack on Tuesday in the first T20I against South Africa, all eyes will be on vice-captain Shubman Gill. The 26-year-old, who walked off the field during the first Test at the Eden Gardens after a neck spasm, missed the remainder of the series and the ODIs before making a comeback for the shortest format.

On the eve of the first match, skipper Suryakumar Yadav confirmed that Gill and the other comeback man Hardik Pandya are 'healthy and fit' to play. Pandya, coming back from a left quadriceps injury, has already played a couple of Syed Mushtaq Ali matches while Gill will be playing his first game since the injury occurred. And it showed in the preparation as the vice-captain trained close to two hours on Monday.

> Our 2026 T20 World Cup preparation began right after we won the T20 World Cup in 2024... Our preparation is similar. Since then, we have been trying new things and everything is working for us.
>
> — Suryakumar Yadav, India T20I captain

The attention that Gill garners is not just about his comeback but also his place in the batting-order. Till the Asia Cup in September, Gill was not a regular in the T20I set-up. However, he was made vice-captain to Yadav after a successful Test tour in England as skipper before replacing Rohit Sharma in the ODI leadership. It meant opener Sanju Samson was moved to middle-order with Gill partnering Abhishek Sharma.

Yadav made it clear once again that it was Gill who opened the batting in Sri Lanka post the 2024 T20 World Cup and has only come back to take his spot. "In terms of Sanju, yes, when he came into the circuit, he batted higher up the order. He did really well before when he opened the innings, but Shubman had played before him in the Sri Lanka series. And so he deserved to take that spot. But we gave Sanju opportunities. He was ready to bat at any number, which actually is good to see any player being very flexible. So that's one thing which I have told all the batters. Other than openers, everyone has to be very flexible," Yadav told reporters at the Barabati Stadium in Cuttack on Monday.

India's Shubman Gill during a net session in Cuttack on Monday | DEBADATTA MALLICK

Since the 2024 T20 WC and 2025 Asia Cup, Gill batted in seven innings, scored 243 runs while averaging 40.5 and striking at 129.25. However, since being named vice-captain, with potentially set to take over post the T20 WC next year, Gill scored 259 runs from 12 innings at 28.77 average and 143.09 SR. The next ten matches India have at home in the lead up to the T20 World Cup give Gill ample time to set the record straight and make the spot his own.

And even as Gill tries to impose himself as an aggressor at the top, Yadav said that India have a settled team will not be trying too many things over the next couple of months. "Our 2026 T20 World Cup preparation began right after we won the T20 World Cup in 2024... Our preparation is similar. The preparation started after the T20 World Cup 2024 got over. Since then, we have been trying new things and everything is working for us. I feel in the last 5-6 series which we have played, we have tried and played with a similar combination. We have not changed too much... Everything is going well. We wanted to continue the same way. The plan for the series is to play good cricket... There are some things that we are doing right. So, why should we change that?

"There is still two months to go for the World Cup and we have ten T20Is against two good teams. Now the focus is on this game and series after which we play New Zealand then the World Cup. Once we are closer, we will talk about that. Now, it is all going good," said Yadav.

POINTS TO PONDER

With the focus turning to shortest format, a look at the first T20I in Cuttack..

PANDYA WITH NEW BALL

Skipper Suryakumar Yadav has thrown his weight behind Hardik Pandya as the new-ball bowler, which allows them to play the extra spin-bowling all-rounder if necessary. Pandya has been bowling with new ball for a while now, but he is coming back from an injury and will be closely assessed.

MILLER, STUBBS X-FACTOR

David Miller and Tristan Stubbs are back in the team for the shortest format after missing the ODIs. One an experienced middle-order batter who can be explosive and other a young destructive batter who is staking his claim as a finisher. For SA to have a good series, these two have to come good.

SAMSON OR JITESH

The last time India played a T20I, it was Jitesh Sharma who kept wickets and not Sanju Samson. From averaging 34.78 with a strike rate of 171.47 while opening, Samson's numbers have gone down to 26.8 average and 121.8 SR in five innings after being moved to No 5 to accommodate Shubman Gill at the top. Will he continue or Jitesh gets first chance will be interesting to see.

EYE ON FUTURE

'PROCESS ON TO INCLUDE SQUASH AT 2032 OLYMPICS'

CHANDRA PRABHU @Chennai

AFTER failed bids to get the sport in previous Olympic Games, squash is finally in the official programme for 2028 Los Angeles Olympic Games. While expressing delight and relief over the inclusion, World Squash Federation (WSF) president and veteran sports administrator Zena Wooldridge said that they're hopeful of a successful bid to include the sport for the 2032 Olympics in Brisbane. Days after completing five years at office, Wooldridge, whose tenure is until 2028, outlined plans to sustain the game as an Olympic sport. In an interaction with select media during the opening ceremony of the Squash World Cup, she also revealed plans to expand the game. Excerpts:

● On plans to bid for Brisbane Olympics and 2036

Initially, we were only (being) allocated to one Olympics. It is a new, additional sport, but a full sport, so full medals. And then we have to bid again for the next Olympics in Brisbane 2032. We have already started that process. That will continue until probably the middle of next year, and they should make a decision in the middle of next year. So we've really strengthened our position as a sport. We're much stronger now than when we put the bid in for LA28, but there's no guarantee that we'll get in because Brisbane does not have the same facilities and the same resources that LA has.

TUESDAY'S FIXTURES

Hong Kong vs Korea (10.30 am), Malaysia vs Poland (1pm), Japan vs Iran (3.30pm), India vs Switzerland (6pm).

● On the importance of India's participation

India is a big squash nation and very influential as a host, as participants, as providers of referees. It's a really important and a growing nation for us. There's a very likely chance that there will be, and it's really important for us, that we've got Indian squash players in that 16 draw because then that gives us broadcast coverage in India during the Olympics. And then, of course, we've got the Commonwealth Games as well in Ahmedabad. So that will be an important milestone in terms of India's ambitions to host the 2036 Games.

● On the federation's growth

I mean, it's a big team effort. And I think the one thing that we have definitely done is we've improved our working relationship with the Professional Squash Association (PSA) and with our colleagues in US Squash and now working very closely with Squash Australia as well. So it's really important that the sport works as a team. And I think we're an unusual sport in how well we're coordinated and how well we work together as a whole sport. And I think that makes a big difference to our Olympic ambitions because we're recognised as a sport that's joined up. Over the last three years, we've really moved the sport forward, we've improved the governance, improved the finances, modernised some of the championships.

● On factors that may help keep squash in the Olympics

Yeah, the small footprint of costs, and the fact that we're very flexible to work with, because we're quite happy to design our format and our programme around the constraints and the needs of the host, whether it's going to be singles, doubles, whether it's one court, two courts, where you can put a glass court, it's very, very flexible and agile. So you take LA for example, they were really keen to use Universal Studios, but they thought, well what sport can we put in there and squash fits beautifully into Universal Studios to be able to showcase their creative film industry. So it's a dream come true for us.

How Spain became more Spain than ever before

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

ON Wednesday, the Mayor Radhakrishnan Stadium will witness a slice of history. The junior men's World Cup final will feature the Spanish team for the first time in the competition's 46-year-old history. For a country that's hockey royalty — the senior team has medalled at the Olympics and the senior World Cup — it's the one thing missing in their rich trophy cabinet.

It's kind of why this Spain team is already being hailed 'as one of the best young groups of all time'. But there's no secret to what has fuelled this side's rise to the top table among juniors. If anything, they have just been more Spain than Spain has ever been before.

Multiple captains — one on the field and one off it — 15 players from the Terrassa, the small hockey-loving city in Catlonia and a feeling of the side being 'a part of very big family' have all contributed to a sense of achievement over the last two weeks in Chennai and Madurai. "We like the ball," Oriol Torras, the Spanish coach, says. "We like possession." In that way, the hockey system is very much like football. Even if the sport, like football, has increasingly become more physical, more athletic, Spanish hockey teams have tended to produce diminutive midfielders who score very highly on technical skills. It's a point Torras mentions to select mediapersons during an interaction at their team hotel on Monday, two days out from the final against Germany. "Modern hockey is more physical. Hockey players are now athletes. They are athletes and then hockey players. But, for me, the ball is the most important. We train (keeping this in mind."

It's why the final promises to be a clash of contrasts. Germany are a highly technical team but like they showed against India, they can be a very intense physical team with their running power down both flanks. Some of their players also have imposing frames so they will look to put pressure. Spain, though, will look to suffocate their opponents with the ball. Torras, who also works as one of the assistant coaches to Max Caldas in the senior set-up, is quick to point out that, in terms of physicality, they may not be strong 'we have very technical players, so we can use this on the pitch'.

Spain players celebrate their semifinal win over Argentina on Sunday | PTI

That's just one aspect of what makes Spain such a unique team at the World Cup in 2025. There's of course the well-known Terrassa factor. The city is basically Spain's hockey equivalent of Shivaji Park in Mumbai. The place, a 20-minute car ride from Barcelona, has produced over 125 hockey Olympians.

First, a history about the place. There was a cultural exchange between English and Catalan families. When a few kids went to England to deal in textiles, they brought back a couple of hockey sticks. That love affair continues even today. "In this squad, we have 15 players from Catalonia," Torras says. "It's common to see young kids have sticks with them even when walking on the streets or in the nearby parks." This phenomenon has historically helped Spain have multiple joint practice sessions on a weekly basis. So there's already an understanding and chemistry. When Torras is asked what makes this side special, he says: "It's a very good team outside the pitch because there's a nice blend of youth and experience." It's something that's referenced by captain Guiu Corominas as well.

But Torras, Caldas & Co. also recognise the need to have a long-term vision. Everything is done in keeping in mind the senior set-up to ensure all age-group teams 'have the same identity and structure'.

TN, Delhi end SMAT campaign with wins

ENS/AGENCIES

B SAI Sudharsan smashed a sensational century as Tamil Nadu beat Saurashtra in their final Syed Mushtaq Ali Trophy league game by three wickets in Ahmedabad on Monday. Earlier, Yash Dhull and skipper Nitish Rana scored fine half-centuries as Delhi finished with an 18-run win over Uttarakhand.

Set a target of 184, Sudharsan hit an unbeaten 55-ball 101 as TN got across the line in the penultimate over with three wickets in hand. This win helped them finish fourth in Group D below Delhi who came third behind Jharkhand and Rajasthan. Meanwhile, in the same group, Tripura tied with Karantaka before beating them in Super Over. Tripura hit 22/0 runs in Super Over. Karnataka could manage 18/1. Brief scores: Delhi 162/7 in 20 ovs (Dhull 52, Rana 51) bt Uttarakhand 144/7 in 20 ovs (Prashant 54; Suyash 2/27, Digvesh 2/22); Tripura 197/8 (Manisankar 69) tie with Karnataka 197/6 in 20 ovs (Sharath 44; Manisankar 2/30); Saurashtra 183/7 in 20 ovs (Jadeja 70, Gajjar 66, Silambarasan 3/30) lost to TN 185/7 in 18.4 ovs (Sai Sudharsan 101 n.o; Sandhu 30).

Liverpool look to ride the storm

Premier League champions, who have struggled to find any sort of momentum this season, face a stiff away challenge against Inter Milan in the Champions League. A look at Tuesday's set of fixtures...

Inter vs Liverpool | 1:30 am (IST Wednesday)

Liverpool star Mohamed Salah, who took aim at the coach and the club after the team's 3-3 draw against Leeds on Saturday, has been left out of the tie. In the midst of this crisis, they will face an away test against Inter. A win for Inter could help them avoid play-offs and enter knockouts directly. A win for Liverpool could potentially galvanise them.

Salah was dropped despite training earlier on Monday with the first team | AFP

Barcelona vs Eintracht Frankfurt | 1:30 am (IST Wednesday)

Barcelona have won three straight matches after their 0-3 defeat against Chelsea in the last round. They'll be hoping to keep the momentum when they face Eintracht Frankfurt at home. Ferran Torres, who has scored four in the last two matches, and Lamine Yamal, to name a few, will be hoping to make a difference. Frankfurt, meanwhile, are in the elimination zone at the moment and a win would put them back in contention for knockouts.

TUESDAY'S OTHER MATCHES

(1:30 am/IST Wednesday unless specified): Bayern vs Sporting (11:15pm); Atalanta vs Chelsea; Monaco vs Galatasaray; PSV vs Atletico; Tottenham vs Slavia Praha; Leverkusen vs Newcastle; Qarabag vs Ajax.

Two sent off for Real in Celta defeat

AGENCIES @Madrid

REAL Madrid crashed to a damaging 2-0 home defeat by Celta Vigo on Sunday in La Liga, finishing the game with nine men after red cards for Fran Garcia and Alvaro Carreras.

Williot Swedberg struck twice in the second half for Celta, with Madrid's second league defeat of the season leaving rivals Barcelona four points clear at the top of La Liga.

Xabi Alonso's side, second, also lost defender Eder Militao to injury on a difficult night in the Spanish capital, before they host Manchester City in the Champions League on Wednesday.

Madrid were playing their first match at home following six on the road across all competitions after hosting an NFL match at the Bernabeu, coinciding with a poor run of form, having now won just one of their last five league games.

"We have to turn the page as soon as possible. It's only three points," urged Alonso.

"We have the Champions League game against City to react in, and get this bad taste out of our mouths."

With the juicy European battle against Erling Haaland's City approaching, Alonso chose to rest centre-back Antonio Rudiger, starting with Carreras in the heart of defence.

Espanyol continued their superb start to the season with a 1-0 win over Rayo Vallecano to climb up to fifth.

In the meta-analysis of data from 96 studies involving more than four lakh children, researchers found that poor diet, inactivity, family history of hypertension, stress at school, and obesity were found to be the leading causes of hypertension in children

DOUBLES IN TWO DECADES

Hypertension in kids is reversible

SINDUJA JANE @Chennai

CHILDHOOD hypertension has nearly doubled in two decades globally, affecting children under the age of 19 years, according to a study recently published in The Lancet Child & Adolescent Health. According to the researchers, obesity is the leading cause of this problem. However, there is a ray of hope as doctors say this condition in kids can be reversed with lifestyle modifications, which otherwise would lead to adulthood hypertension.

Take the case of 12-year-old Anand (name changed) who was brought to the hospital with borderline blood pressure. He was overweight and his screen time was very high. "After changing his routine, bringing down his screen time, adding cycling to his routine, and implementing a fixed sleep cycle, his BP returned to normal within three months. Childhood hypertension is very much reversible in most cases," said Dr P Subash Chandra Bose, Senior Consultant, Paediatrician, SIMS Hospital.

What the study found

In the meta-analysis of data from 96 studies involving more than four lakh children, researchers found that the prevalence of high blood pressure in children and teenagers under 19 years has increased to 6.2% in 2020, from 3.2 in 2000, affecting around 114 million children globally.

The study also found that an additional 8.2% of children fall into a pre-hypertension or elevated blood-pressure category. The blood pressure levels rose sharply during early adolescence, peaking around 14 years of age. The blood pressure was higher in boys than girls. Between 2000 and 2020, the prevalence of childhood hypertension nearly doubled, increasing from 3.4% to 6.5% in boys and 3.02% to 5.82% in girls.

It is reversible

According to WHO, being overweight during childhood and adolescence is associated with greater risk and earlier onset of various non-communicable diseases, such as type-2 diabetes and cardiovascular disease. Childhood adolescent obesity has adverse psychosocial consequences. It affects school performance and quality of life, compounded by stigma, discrimination and bullying. Children with obesity are very likely to be adults with obesity and are also at a higher risk of developing NCDs in adulthood.

Poor diet, inactivity, family history of hypertension, stress at school, and obesity were found to be the leading causes of hypertension in children. However, lifestyle modifications and early diagnosis can reverse the condition in children, say doctors.

"Kids are moving much less now, their screen time has increased. Food habits have changed. Obesity is a big factor, but children who are not overweight can also get high BP because of stress, poor sleep, family history and many other reasons," said Dr Subash.

"Childhood BP can actually predict adult BP, so if diagnosed early, long term heart and kidney issues can be prevented in adulthood. Children don't show clear signs of BP mostly. But parents should watch for morning headaches, tiredness more than usual, irritability, breathlessness with small activity, sudden weight gain and snoring at night," added Dr Subash.

Hypertension without any underlying cause is very rare in children unlike adults. "Once the underlying cause is addressed and treated, the hypertension usually resolves," said Dr Janani Sankar, Medical DIrector of Kanchi Kamakoti Childs Trust Hospital.

What parents should do

From the age of three, it is advised to have the BP checked annually, and more frequently if the child is overweight, premature, has kidney issues or has a strong family history of hypertension. "Parents can ensure children have physical activity at least 40-50 minutes daily. Avoid biscuits, sugary drinks, cut down on extra salt and reduce taking chips. Their sleep cycle should be regular. Include more fruits and vegetables in their diet and always prefer homemade food," said Dr Subash. The prevalence of hypertension in children is more prevalent in urban areas, said Dr Pushkala, consultant paediatrician, Kauvery Hospital,Chennai.

Hypertension caused by obesity could be due to insulin resistance and changes in the blood vessels, and family history of hypertension. Children with these risk factors should be screening early.

"We have to screen children in pre-hypertension phase, even before it causes symptoms, or damage. Screening should be done regularly in clinics, even during school health check up. Emphasis should be on active and healthy lifestyle, and health education. If the child is consistently found to be hypertensive, or not responding to lifestyle modifications, this will cause end organ damage. At this stage the child might need medications to control the blood pressure," said Dr Pushkala.

In a 2023 study, the researchers found that the prevalence of obesity was 8.4% in children, and 12.4% were overweight. "This is actually more in number in boys than girls. The incidence of obesity was more in children with a family history of hypertension, and also who had both parents working. It is predicted that the prevalence of obesity and overweight in India by 2030 will be around 11%. So, it should be controlled," added Dr Pushkala.

UNHEALTHY COMBO

Studies point out that there is a large percentage of obese children developing hypertension compared to healthy-weight kids

Obesity and hypertension stem from unhealthy lifestyles: high intake of processed foods, sugary drinks, and salt, coupled with less physical activity

This duo sets children on a path for serious adult cardiovascular problems, including heart disease and stroke

'Caged' hormone treatment to strengthen weak bones without uterine side effects that increase cancer risks

A new method of delivering a key hormone treatment for osteoporosis could help strengthen weakened, brittle bones without the usual uterine side effects that increase cancer risks, experiments in mice suggest. Estradiol - a form of the estrogen hormone - is usually broken down in the body before it can reach the bones, with a resulting increased risk of endometrial and uterine cancers. To bypass the uterus and other organs and deliver estradiol directly to the bones, researchers encapsulated it in a two-layer cage, or shell, that stays intact in neutral pH solutions, like in the bloodstream, but dissolves and releases the drug in acidic solutions, akin to the environment in weakening bones, according to a report in ACS Nano Letters. In mice with postmenopausal osteoporosis, the researchers administered twice-weekly injections of their caged estradiol, regular estradiol, or saline. After four weeks, mice that received the caged estradiol achieved bone density values higher than pre-osteoporosis levels without uterine side effects. Agencies

With Australia set to implement a ban on social media for children under 16, starting December 10, and several countries considering following suit, Bengaluru's teens, parents and experts consider its feasibility in India

MAHIMA NAGARAJU, ANJALI RAM

WHEN social media came onto the world stage, it was met with excitement at the possibility that technology could connect people across the globe. Decades later, as we start to see the wear that constant connectivity has on mental well-being, especially the harm cyberbullying, exposure to predatory behaviour and the addictiveness of social media causes to young minds, hope has given way to worry and caution. In an unprecedented and likely trend-setting move, Australia took decisive action of banning several social media platforms for children under 16, with failure to comply inviting fines up to $50 million on service providers. While some have hailed the decision, with countries like Denmark, Brazil, Indonesia, Malaysia, Spain, and others considering their own legislation, others have pointed out that this may push teens into greater harm, emphasising the need for parental controls and platform regulation rather than an outright ban. YouTube has also made its case, pointing out the benefits of being able to freely access edu content for teens on its platform.

'WILL PUSH CHILDREN INTO UNSAFE BEHAVIOUR'

Technology-driven ecosystems are complicated and outright bans push children into behaviours like using VPNs and borrowing credentials, thereby reducing the visibility and parental oversight needed to keep them safe. Implementing a similar ban in India would be more challenging. India is home to one of the world's youngest digital populations, with uneven digital literacy levels among both children and parents. Age verification is challenging, as any system sophisticated enough to prohibit under-16 access would necessitate gathering more personal data, raising privacy and data-security concerns, which India is still navigating under the DPDP Act's early implementation stage. The most realistic course of action would be a hybrid model wherein principles like safety-by-design, age-appropriate design codes, parental control tools by default and digital wellbeing education in schools are integrated. — VINEET KUMAR, Founder & Global President, CyberPeace

'LAWS HAVE TO BE STRONG'

Banning apps like Instagram, TikTok and Snapchat is good because kids are exposed to people who are much older than them on these apps. I have seen an increase in anxiety and depressive symptoms, with the social comparison that goes on due to social media. Games are not banned despite their addictive nature and rewarding risk-taking behaviours when teenagers' impulse control is not fully developed. We have to see how the implementation plays out. For it to be possible in India, laws have to be extremely strong, as here in Australia – there are fines and strict consequences when the law is broken. However, I think India already does a good job of limiting social media in most schools.

— NIDHI DEV, Australia-based clinical psychologist from B'luru

'NEED DIGITAL LITERACY TOO'

I see this as a proactive and protective move. I've been noticing it influencing the identity, mental health, and attention span of children. Especially in kids as young as four to five, it's impacting their listening and social skills and self-worth. It is also essential for children to learn digital literacy. In a tech-conscious city like Bengaluru, it's not possible to control social media; people can only educate children to take more responsibility. The way to keep children safe is to have a healthy balance between all four segments – parents, schools, tech platforms and the government, to ensure they're using social media in an age-appropriate way.

'INDIA LACKS COOPERATION TO DEAL WITH SUCH OPERATIONS'

When I first heard about it, I was stunned because I've never heard about a government banning social media for teens or taking such positive measures against teens and their social accounts. I feel it's a good move, as teens might be facing cyberbullying and grooming. Teens in Western countries are more into social media, so this seems like a step in the right direction. Personally, I text one or another friend daily, so if this gets implemented here too, I would face problems with communication; that's the only issue. However, I don't think it would be possible in India, as the country lacks the cooperation needed to effectively deal with such operations.

— NEHA B, School student

'WILL MAKE TEENS DISTANT FROM ONE ANOTHER'

Banning social media would limit teen's ability to stay in touch, making them more distant from one another. I don't think it would be possible in India, as the population is much larger as compared to Australia. It would affect me a lot, as I communicate with all my friends and I stay updated about what's happening around the world through social media.

— ARYAVEER PARMAR, School student

'BALANCED APPROACH IS KEY'

Australia's social media ban for under-16s aims to protect kids from online harm, but challenges like workarounds and social isolation remain. India's DPDP rules also enforce a partial ban through parental consent, but issues like digital literacy gaps and large-scale enforcement persist. In India, a ban could help kids focus on studies, but may limit educational resources and cause isolation. While the ban could protect from cyberbullying and excessive screen time, it may also restrict learning and be hard to enforce. A balanced approach is the key – with better platform safety, parental guidance and digital literacy education seems more effective. — ANITHA JAISHANKAR, Teacher

Sitar maestro Niladri Kumar, who has scored songs in Kannada, speaks to CE about his India Dream concert

Ragas & reinvention

DARSHITA JAIN

SITAR maestro Niladri Kumar's production India Dream has been shaped by years of travel, observation, and conversations across cultures. Before introducing the concept, he reflects on how differently people listen. "Ever since I started travelling, I realised every audience has its own mix of interests and ways of understanding. Some enjoy one kind of sound while others enjoy something completely different. So while producing a performance, I try to cater to these varied ways of listening. That's why I wanted to create something that holds our heritage and tradition together with modernity. I also grew up hearing that Indian classical music is slow and hard to understand, which is not true at all. It can move from the slowest pace in the world to speeds so fast that even electronic music can't match them. This misconception needs to change," explains the singer who scored all the songs for Niruttara in 2016.

These misconceptions have followed him since his teenage years, and he speaks about them with clarity. "When people say they don't understand classical music, I wonder what we mean by understanding. We listen to western, pop, electronic or film music without fully understanding it, yet we enjoy it because we're open to its language. The same openness is needed for our own heritage, our virasat. Sometimes I feel we now need to do the work our great masters once did abroad, but within our own country. That is why India Dream exists, it brings everything together and can move in any musical direction," says Kumar, who also performed at the Udupa Music Festival in 2024.

When asked about technology and AI in music, he remains measured. "AI will change how we create and interact with music, but the essence of melody, rhythm, and emotional connection will remain. Technology can support music, but it can never replace the human spirit that gives it soul," the maestro reflects.

One of the most emotional elements of India Dream is his tribute to late Ustad Zakir Hussain, whose absence he still struggles to accept. "Being on stage with him was an experience I deeply miss – our musical connection was rare and personal. So while creating India Dream, I wanted to honour that bond. My endeavour now is to bring him on stage in spirit and play with him the way I would have if he were still here," shares Kumar.

Timely and Accurate Diagnosis saves Patient from misdiagnosis of Lung Cancer

A patient from the Middle East, who had been wrongly suspected of lung cancer following an X-ray and CT scan, sought consultation at Medicover Hospitals, in Bengaluru.

During his annual health check-up in the Middle East, doctors suspected that he might have lung cancer.The patient, suffering from cough, breathing difficulty, and right lung problems, met Dr. Manjunath B.G, Consultant Pulmonologist, Medicover Hospitals. After reviewing the investigations, Dr. Manjunath confirmed that there was no evidence of lung cancer. Instead, further evaluation with blood tests and bronchoscopy revealed that one part of the lung was blocked due to Allergic Bronchopulmonary Aspergillosis (ABPA).

The patient was treated with appropriate medication, including steroids and nebulisations.

Within just two weeks, his X-ray reports returned completely normal, and he made a full recovery without the need for unnecessary procedures.

Speaking about the case, Dr. Manjunath B.G said: "If patients approach the right specialist at the right time, unnecessary tests and wrong diagnoses can be avoided."

QUICKFIX

SITAPHAL ELAICHI CREAM

INGREDIENTS

- Sitaphal (custard apple) pulp: 1 cup
- Fresh cream: ½ cup
- Warm milk/coconut milk: 2 tbsp
- Sugar or jaggery powder: 1 tbsp (optional: fruit sweetness may be enough)
- Elaichi (cardamom) powder: ¼ tsp
- Saffron strands: 4-5
- Salt: A tiny pinch
- Ghee-roasted chopped almonds: 1 tbsp
- Pistachio slivers: 1 tbsp
- Strands of saffron (optional)

METHOD

- Scoop the custard apple's flesh and quickly remove seeds without mashing.
- Warm up two tbsp milk for 15 seconds. Add saffron and sugar/jaggery to warm milk; let the colour release.
- In a bowl, add fresh cream. Whisk cream lightly for 20-30 seconds, just to loosen it, not whip it. Add the custard apple pulp.
- Fold gently so fruit chunks stay whole.
- Add elaichi and a tiny pinch of salt.
- Pour saffron-milk mix and fold once to get marbling. Top with ghee-roasted almonds and pistachios.

A SMART, SUSTAINABLE ROADMAP TO STAY CONSISTENT WITH YOUR HEALTH GOALS IN 2026

As we are set to enter the new year, there might be some health goals that you were not able to achieve this year and some that you want to achieve next year. But if the problem is that you are not able to stay consistent, here is a guide to make the new year worthwhile by being more consistent, clear and structured.

DEFINE CLEAR, REALISTIC GOALS

Instead of ambitions like having good health and exercising more, frame specific goals that are achievable such as working out for 30 minutes or walking for 5 days a week. Realistic milestones will keep the motivation alive.

BUILD HABITS THROUGH ROUTINE

Consistency thrives when actions are anchored to everyday routines. Attach new habits to already existing behaviours. For example, drink a glass of water right after brushing your teeth, or stretch for 5 minutes after waking up. This will anchor your new habits and make it into an automatic adaption.

TRACK PROGRESS AND CELEBRATE WINS

Celebrating a win gives your mind the necessary motivation to be on track and stop you from losing focus from the mail goal. Maintaining a log to record your daily workout, meals or health habits, makes you more accountable or will provide you with a statistics proof.

BUILD A SUPPORT SYSTEM & ACCOUNTABILITY NETWORK

Having a person who shares the same goal helps you remain consistent as there's a feeling of competition while growing alongside each other. Social support adds encouragement, accountability and shared commitment.

EMBRACE FLEXIBILITY & AVOID PERFECTIONISM

Missed workouts, indulgent meals, hectic days – they're normal. Instead of seeing them as failures, treat them as temporary deviations. What matters is getting back on track, not perfection.

KEEP VARIETY & ENJOYMENT IN YOUR ROUTINE

Mix different activities to reach your goal and rotate your nutritious meals so that the routines do not become monotonous. Sustainability improves when you enjoy what you do.

Whether your aim is better fitness, weight management, improved wellbeing, or long-term health, consistency, structure, and self-compassion together constitute the path to success.

SECRET BEHIND COSY ROOMS

DARSHITA JAIN

THERE is a certain ease you feel the moment you step into a well-lit home. It is not something you consciously analyse, yet the room feels warmer. Most of us assume it is the furniture or the colours creating that comfort, although designers will tell you it almost always begins with the lighting. And not just one bright bulb overhead, but the quiet layering of different lights that makes a space feel alive, familiar, and effortlessly welcoming.

Mita Mehta, interior stylist, who has spent three decades studying how light behaves in homes, reminds clients that lighting deserves a place at the beginning of any design conversation. She says, "A beautifully designed space will fall flat if the lighting is not right. When we speak of 'layered lighting', we are talking about building the right mix of ambient, task, and accent lighting, each doing a different job, but working together quietly." Layered lighting sounds technical at first, yet the principle is straightforward.

However, ambient lighting sets the mood of a room. It is not meant to impress, but to ground the environment. Explaining how she approaches this layer, Mehta says, "Ambient lighting sets the base mood of a room. In larger spaces, a single overhead source often creates harsh hotspots or leaves corners looking underlit. Using a combination of ceiling lights, floor lamps and wall washes to ensure the room feels cohesive without being bright for the sake of brightness. The best lighting is the kind you do not notice, but you feel the calmness it creates."

Designers often find that homeowners understand the concept better with simple analogies, and Shabana Rangwala, partner, Studio Sabr, has one she returns to often. She says, "A layered lighting plan for a room can be compared to providing various outfits for the room." Just as we dress differently depending on the moment, rooms too need different layers for different moods. She further says, "Ambient lighting helps you see the whole room. It's the main lighting that brightens the entire space. Ceiling downlights can be an example of that." While task lighting supports the everyday jobs we do. As she puts it, "Task light supports you to complete your work by focusing the brightness where you need." And, accent lighting is what brings personality, since "accent light draws attention to specific things like artwork, plants, wall textures or any decorative items that make the room look more interesting."

If there is one mistake designers see repeatedly, it is the habit of relying on a single ceiling light to do all the work. Rangwala notes: "If only one light is used, it can make the room look flat. Mixing different colours or lights can make the room feel cold or dull. It is important to understand the room structure, colours, and decor when deciding on the lighting."

Lighting also has a surprisingly strong emotional pull. Vaishali Shah, a design lead, explains, "Lighting impacts our psychological and physiological responses through colour temperature and intensity. Warm light creates inviting, relaxing environments suitable for living spaces, while cooler temperatures enhance focus and productivity in work areas. Layering ambient, task, and accent lighting offers flexibility to transform spaces from energetic social settings to calm retreats." The direction of light matters just as much as its colour. Soft, diffused light soothes the eye, while directed beams instantly sharpen the atmosphere. There is a design layer to this, one that enhances the architecture itself. Vaishali shares, "Lighting plays a crucial role in creating a balanced space that goes beyond illumination to enhance aesthetics, functionality, and mood. It is thoughtfully used to highlight architectural features and décor elements, bringing clarity to forms, textures, and materials. With tech-enabled flexibility and premium fixtures, lighting elevates modern Indian homes by supporting an adaptable, design-led lifestyle."

> Adding a strategically placed mirror opposite a window or light source can instantly transform a space
> Vaishali Shah, design lead

Although lighting can easily become overwhelming, all three experts agree that small changes can make a remarkable difference. Rangwala's simplest tip involves nothing more than turning a switch off. She says, "If a room relies on a single bright ceiling light, switch it off and instead, place two or three warm table or floor lamps in the corners – this spreads light more evenly, reduces glare, and instantly makes the space feel softer and more inviting, especially in living rooms and bedrooms where warm white LEDs create comfort, while cooler whites can be reserved for kitchens or work areas; in hot and humid climates, rust-proof, low-heat LED fixtures are a practical choice that keep spaces both functional and pleasant."

Shah notes another affordable idea and recommends, "Adding a strategically-placed mirror opposite a window or light source can transform a space. Mirrors reflect both natural and artificial light, effectively increasing brightness and creating a sense of depth. This simple adjustment makes small rooms feel larger and darker spaces feel more open, without any electrical work or significant investment. For best results, choose a large mirror with a light-coloured frame. This technique is particularly effective in hallways, living rooms, and bathrooms, where optimal light distribution is important for daily activities."

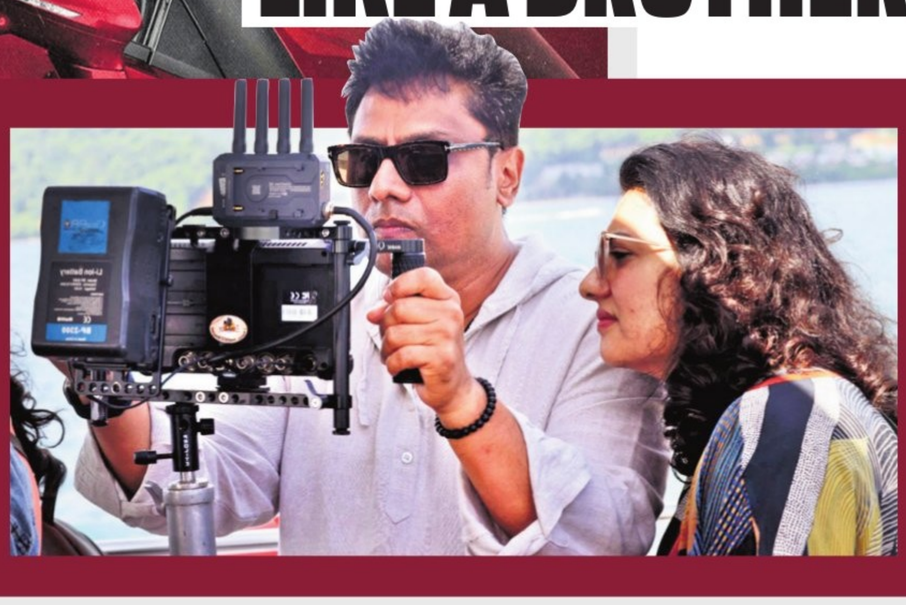
Prakash Veer, Thashwini and Darshan

Prakash Veer and Thashwini share how years of conviction, dedication and planning brought Darshan's The Devil to life

'DARSHAN STOOD BY ME LIKE A BROTHER'



A SHARADHAA

PRAKASH VEER and Thashwini share how years of conviction, dedication and planning brought Darshan's The Devil to life

Prakash Veer, whose filmography includes Milana, Vamshi, Khushi, Rishi, Gokula, Tarak, and Siddhartha, is now gearing up for the release of The Devil, his most ambitious project yet with Challenging Star Darshan. Ahead of the December 11 release, the director opens up in an exclusive interaction with CE about a subject he has nurtured for seven long years. Joining him is his wife, Thashwini, who has handled production responsibilities under Shri Jaimatha Combines while also contributing as a costume designer. Together, they provide a rare glimpse into a creative partnership built on conviction, trust, and shared vision. While composer Ajaneesh Loknath is on board the film, The Devil introduces fresh faces alongside Darshan. While Rachana Rai makes her Kannada debut, Sharmiela Mandre returns after 18 years, and Huli Karthik, Gilli Nata, Mahesh Manjrekar, Achyuth Kumar, Tulasi, and Shobhraj add to the ensemble. With cinematography by Sudhakar S Raj, and music by Ajaneesh Loknath, the film has art direction by Mohan B Kere.

Excerpts from the conversation

What made you hold on to the film for seven years?
Prakash: It is always the script and the story that work. The conviction was there from the day I wrote the line. When I told it to Darshan, he instantly liked it. The negative shade of the character intrigued him, and he was keen that I direct it. We took our time, other projects happened, drafts evolved, then Covid hit. I lost my father, and we only went shooting in 2024. I didn't even realise the script was kept for seven years. It was not just confidence, it was conviction. The film is very new. I had to unlearn certain things, invoke the mass element, and ensure connectivity. Before showing it to the audience, I had to convince myself.

Prakash, it would have been interesting to work with your artistic collaborator and real-life wife Thashwini, right?
Prakash: Before I talk about us as producers, let me say that we are two separate individuals. Thashwini had to take the responsibility, especially given the situation we were in, and I couldn't think of anyone better than my wife to do the role. She takes the job seriously.
Thashwini: Prakash entirely handled the creative side, and I took care of production, administration, and finance. He gave me complete freedom, and I interfered only when he asked for a woman's perspective or audience insight.

Was the decision to produce The Devil always there?
Prakash: Majority of my films are under my production, and it makes me comfortable. I am answerable only to the script

Thashwini: From the first day of marriage, I was told by my in-laws to understand the production side. Coming from an MBA finance background, I was groomed to be a support system. And the primary lesson I learnt was to never keep payments pending. Darshan anna helped me understand where to save without compromising quality. He essentially saved 20 per cent of the film's budget. He stood by me like a brother.

Why did you title the film, The Devil?
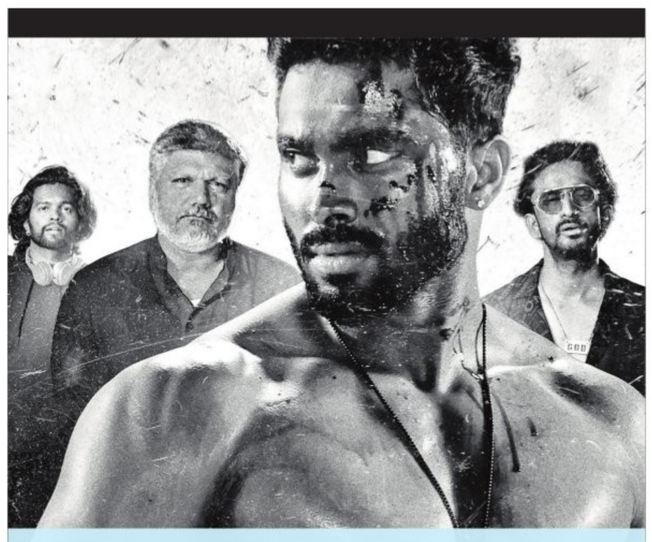
Prakash: Family questioned me, astrologers weighed in, but I stuck to it simply because the title justifies the story. The Devil is an entertainer, and the story matches it perfectly.

How was it to work with Darshan, and what were your learnings from the team?
Prakash: Darshan is a director and producer's actor. From pin to piano, everything aligned with the vision. There is pressure, but planning, patience, and belief in the project make it work, and it is something I have learnt from my mother, who is my powerhouse. I collaborated with fashion designer Chethan, translated the script into styling, and ensured the aura suited Darshan Anna's physique and grandeur.

How is it to be the bridge between Darshan and his fans right now?
Being the bridge between fans and Darshan, I had to handle the project with a lot of patience. Darshan was very peaceful on the sets. His wife, Vijayalakshmi, supported him in his absence, helping with the necessary permissions. Everyone understood the commitment. And I'll always remember Darshan's words to me, 'The film is good, do not worry. My celebrities will look after it.' I cannot express in words how much the fans have brought in their support.



Becoming a hero has been a long-time dream for me: Hemanth Kumar

CE FEATURES

HEMANTH Kumar marks his debut with Alpha - Men Love Vengeance, produced by Anand Kumar under the LA Productions banner and directed by Vijay, known for films such as Geetha and Gurudeva Hoysala. The film's teaser was recently launched at a grand event, with Lahari Velu releasing it and wishing the team well.

The recently released teaser sets the mood of the film, and building tension with shadowy frames, intense close-ups, and a pulsating score. Director Vijay offers glimpses of conflict and emotion without revealing the story. For Hemanth Kumar, it's a bold debut statement, as the film hints at a unconventional love story.

Speaking about his journey, Hemanth Kumar said, "Through Malur Srinivas, I was introduced to Maasti. Maasti then introduced me to director Vijay. I liked the story Vijay narrated. That's how this movie began. Becoming a hero has been a long-time dream for me. But I did not want to act without proper preparation, so I took all the necessary training required for a hero and then acted in this film. I got such a good team for my first film. My father Anand Kumar is the producer, but I also handled production work with support from Champakadhama Babu. With everyone's effort, a good film has been made. The teaser is out, and the film is expected to hit screens around February."

Hemanth emphasised that the film is more than a typical love story. "It's not just an action thriller. Along with sentiment, it includes all the elements viewers look for. The story revolves around three fathers and three children and shows how children seek 'revenge' if someone troubles their father."

The film features Gopika Suresh and Ayana in lead roles, with the former playing a police officer, and the latter essaying the role of Hemanth's love interest. Bigg Boss-fame Karthik Mahesh has a special role in the film.

The ensemble cast also includes Avinash, Achyuth Kumar, Manasi Sudheer, Ramesh Indira, Balu Nagendra, Vinay Bidappa, Mahantesh, and Raghu Shivamogga. While J Anoop Seelin has composed the music, Karthik has handled cinematography, and Amar is incharge of the production design.

SALMAN KHAN CONFIRMS WORKING ON KICK 2

CE FEATURES

ON Sunday, the grand finale of the 19th season of Bigg Boss Hindi took place. During the finale event, Salman Khan, who has hosted all seasons of Bigg Boss Hindi so far, revealed that he is currently working on the sequel to Kick. Back in October 2024, when producer Sajid Nadiadwala, also director of Kick, collaborated with Salman Khan for Sikandar, the two announced that they were reuniting for Kick 2. However, there were no updates about the development of the film thereafter.

Kick, a comedy action film, marked Sajid's directorial debut and emerged as one of the biggest blockbusters of 2014. It was also Salman's first film to enter the Rs 200 crore club. Also starring Jacqueline Fernandez, Randeep Hooda, and Nawazuddin Siddiqui, the movie was an official remake of Telugu star Ravi Teja's 2009 film of the same title.

Meanwhile, Salman Khan is set to headline Apoorva Lakhia's Battle of Galwan, portraying an army officer in the film inspired by the 2020 clash between Indian and Chinese troops in the Galwan Valley.

Padayappa 2 is on the cards

CE FEATURES

AS Rajinikanth is set to turn 75 this Friday and has completed 50 years in cinema, his iconic film, Padayappa, is set to re-release in theatres on December 12. Sharing an exclusive video about the experience of shooting that film, actor Rajinikanth said that he strongly considered making a sequel to Padayappa after being a sequel like 2.0 and Jailer 2. Rajinikanth added that the second part would be made from the point of view of Neelambari (Ramya Krishnan).

The actor further revealed that the second part is currently under discussion. Padayappa, directed by KS Ravikumar, also starred Sivaji Ganesan, Soundarya, Radha Ravi, Nassar, Manivannan, and Abbas. Produced by Rajinikanth's Arunachala Cine Creations, the film had music by AR Rahman.

Suchendra Prasad's directorial Padmagandhi to release this week

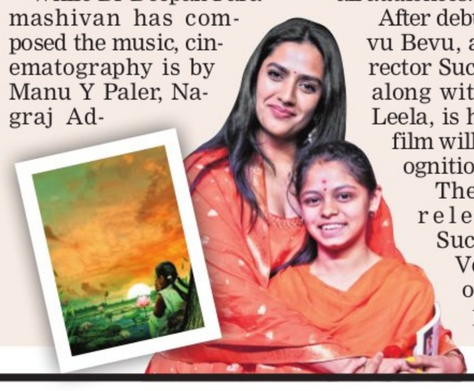
CE FEATURES

PADMAGANDHI, directed and written by veteran actor K Suchendra Prasad, is set to hit the screens on December 12. It will open alongside The Devil and Peotu. The film will be presented in Kannada, Sanskrit, and Hindi. Its trailers and songs have already generated interest. Produced by SR Leela, a former MLC, columnist, and Sanskrit scholar, the film comes from over six years of research into the lotus flower's spiritual and historical importance. It aims to offer viewers a fresh and engaging cinematic experience.

The film features talent from various artistic and academic backgrounds. Young actor Ku Mahapadma plays a student, while Udupi's Chandrashekhar takes on the role of the Gurumate. Contributions also come from Shatavadhani Dr R Ganesh, Dr Gauri Subrahmanya, Dr Prema, Dr Hemant Kumar, Acharya Mrityunjay Shastri, GL Bhat, Pandit Prasanna Vaidya, and Dr Deepak Paramashivan.

While Dr Deepak Paramashivan has composed the music, cinematography is by Manu Y Paler, Nagraj Advani, and Giridhar Divan. N. Nagesh Narayanappa has handled the editing.

Padmagandhi explores the story of a lotus flower, a symbol of purity and spiritual strength. It delves into its divine fragrance and mythological significance, including its role in the Mahabharata's Padmavyuha. Though aimed at children, its themes are universal. They touch on philosophy, culture, and spirituality in a way that resonates with all audiences.

After debuting with Maavu Bevu, actor-turned-director Suchendra Prasad, along with producer SR Leela, is hopeful that the film will receive the recognition it deserves.


The film is set to release under Suchit Films, with Venkat Gowda overseeing the project.
